Ballot set

Five-way race for Schools

By DAN HALL

WILMINGTON - The Polls for the upcoming town elections have officially been set. Candidates were required to return their papers by last Friday, and while some people who pulled papers failed to return them and will not be in the election, many individuals, including several new faces on the political scene, have completed the requisite paperwork and gathered the necessary signatures in order to vie for town office.

In the race for a seat on the board of selectmen, 2 available seats are being fought over by four candidates. Incumbent candidates Michael Newhouse and Louis Cimaglia are both attempting to gain reelection after their terms, while Daniel Murphy and Kevin MacDonald are also in the race to sit on this council of five.

For the school committee, 3 seats are available and will be contested over by 5 possible candidates. Margaret Kane and Kathleen Carroll, the incumbent candidates, will be attempting to gain reelection. Julie Broussard, Donna Leone and Jennifer Spear will be running as

Drama Guild advances to STATE

By DAN HALL

WILMINGTON - The unthinkable has happened for the Wilmington Lamplighters Drama Guild. Having advanced to the state semifinals after placing second at the preliminaries, the team had been pleasantly surprised. For the first time in team history, they had made it to the semifinals, and many students had won individual awards. The play itself, Still Falls The Rain, had won an award for its writing and Wilmington had been well represented. Anything on top of that performance was just a bonus. The Lamplighters would go on to the semifinals, and would perform so well there that they would be invited to the state finals, held in Boston March 21st-23rd. This is history.

The strongest performing drama guild in program history, the 2013 Lamplighters took second at the semifinal round, earning them the coveted spot at the state final. Wilmington was the opening performance at the semifinals, and after the performance they received a standing ovation, leaving big shoes to be filled by the WILMINGTON - In its 33rd year of preparation, the annual Fourth of July event was a main topic of discussion at the Monday, March 11, Board of Selectmen meeting. Scott Garratt, chairman of the Fourth of July Committee, attended the meeting to present to the board the committee's proposed plan for this year's carnival, fireworks and events. Due to construction of the new high school, the carnival and non-profit booths sections cannot be held on the High School property like years past.

Garratt proposed that all of the week long events (July 2 - July 7), such as firework shows, town non-profit booths, and the carnival, be held on the paved lot

WILMINGTON - This Friday, March 15th, Wilmington High School presents its 8th Annual Talent Show. Approximately 20 acts will perform, including one act in particular that students and teachers look forward to: "This is the first year Wilmington High School will feature a student-teacher act," said WHS science teacher Michelle Hooper. Hooper, 2014 class advisor, ran last year's talent show. "The student-teacher act will perform Michael Jackson's Thriller, choreographed by Guidance Department Secretary, Susan Murray." Hooper expects it to be a big hit.

WILMINGTON - At the Monday, March 11, Board of Selectmen meeting, Dan Bamberg led a presentation about the Yentile Farm Development Committee's progress to date. Joined by Assistant Town Manager Kendra Amaral and Anthony Pronski, Engineering director, Bamberg detailed the committee's current status and future steps.

Pronski explained that of the 20.3 acres, approximately 9 acres of the land is developable. The committee put out a town-wide survey to ask residents what they would like to see developed from the land. Amaral detailed the results from the 1,000 returned surveys, pointing out that the obvious winner was for mixed-use recreational space for residents of all ages. Biggest WILMINGTON- Opioid addiction is a serious problem ravaging the streets of America. From prescription pain killers to heroine created from the opium poppy to smoking opium itself, this highly dangerous and unbelievably addictive substance has left a sea of ruined lives in its wake. Opium addiction has played a major role in the destruction of entire civilizations, signaling dark days for the Chinese during the Opium wars with Britain and leaving whole generations of Russians and central Asians hopelessly addicted and addled with destructive drugs. This is not just a problem in distant places, but a real issue in New England as well. Opioid addiction is rampant in the United States, especially in the North East. Notable Opioids consist of Heroine, Methadone, Oxycodone, Fentanyl, Codeine and Morphine.

While the effects of this addiction can be devastating

Memorialized – in fabric and thread

Wilmington Middle School teacher makes unique quilt to remember the victims of Sandy Hook.

By Sharon Adelman Crowley
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - It has been almost four months since the tragedy at Sandy Hook Elementary School. Time has passed, but the pain of so many lost lives remains in the grieving hearts of many.

Special Education Teacher, Annette Bush, is one such person. She spent the past month and a half creating a special quilt memorializing the victims of Sandy Hook.

"I was trying to wrap myself around what had happened," said the sixth grade Wilmington Middle School teacher. "I had just made my daughter some curtains by printing pictures of her cat onto fabric. When I saw all the victims' pictures online, I decided I would make a quilt to honor them by applying the same techniques."

Bush created one square for each victim with their names, dates, and hobbies. She carefully read through the online obituaries to collect the information, and then used a special sewing machine to embroider the hobbies. "My sewing machine actually does the embroidery," she said. "I design the squares using embroidery designs I either bought online or created by using the embroidery program." Bush decorated each square with as much information as she could find. "Anything that would represent them," she said. "For example, a couple of girls liked horses, so I embroidered a small horse on their 8x10 squares. I also included any quotes from parents, family members, or pastors." Bush said one parent called their girl their little hummingbird, and so she machine embroidered a hummingbird on that square. "Another child liked the color green, so I embroidered green balloons. I embroidered two Sunbonnet Sue Firemen for a child who wanted to be a fireman when he grew up."

Bush made the quilt by sizing each child's picture into three-inch squares in a Microsoft Word document. From there, she printed them onto photo fabric. "Which is a paper-backed fabric that you feed through your inkjet printer," she said. Bush then cut out each three-inch square picture and appliqued them onto 8x10 inch squares. Around the name, picture, and quote she embroidered the designs that represented each victim. "There are 30 squares: two squares have a picture that represents all of the victims, two squares have a picture that represents the Sandy Hook students who survived, and the remaining squares were for those who lost their lives." The squares were put together in a 6 x 5 arrangement with a 4-inch green border. The finished quilt is about 56 x 56 inches.

Bush started quilting in 1986. "The first one took five years," she said. "I didn't know what I was doing; I learned on the job." Her very first quilt was made out of show ribbons. "From 17 to 26-years-old, I was involved in horseback competitions." Although Bush enjoyed quilting, she put it aside until 1995, after the birth of her daughter, Christiana. "I made a quilt out of the clothing I'd sewn for Christiana and I just kept on going from there," she said. Daughter Christiana, now 19 and attending college in Boston, and son Craig, 22, a college graduate living in

New Hampshire, have picked out nostalgic t-shirts from school events that Bush plans to turn into quilts. "It makes for a great memory quilt."

Bush gives credit to friend and co-worker Patty Murray, administrative assistant at the Wilmington Middle School. "She has been my biggest supporter," Bush said. "Anytime I made a quilt, I brought it in for her to see. Patty encouraged me to share my quilts and other small sewing crafts. She was the one who emailed the Superintendent of Sandy Hook Schools, telling them about my quilt and what an incredible tribute it was to the victims."

The Superintendent responded that they would be honored to accept it, and Bush plans to deliver the quilt in person before the end of the month.

The big snowfall of 1953

Crews worked 37 hours straight

Wilmington Crusader, Jan. 14, 1953

Probably written by Capt. Larz Neilson

"The snow had begun in the gloaming

And busily all the night

Had been filling field and highway

With a silence cold and white."

Thus wrote the poet James Russell Lowell 100 years ago, but Wilmington town employees were singing another song during the weekend past, when 16 inches of snow fell on Wilmington, breaking an eight-year record.

It began Thursday evening with a few floating wisps. By 11 p.m., all the crews had reported at the Town Garage, and the odyssey began.

All day Friday, the snow came down, and the town snowplows struggled to keep the roads open, as prudent men stayed in their homes, and children, released from the onerous duty of attending school, gamboled in the falling silence.

All Friday night, the crew battled on. Saturday, fagged and tired, they found no release, as calls kept coming into the office, about this street and that road. Most of the calls were from people who were very considerate, but in a few cases, sharp words came over the telephone.

Plowing the streets of Wilmington isn't exactly the easiest kind of work that trucks have to do. Something would happen, and one by one, the trucks were retired to the garage, unable to continue. The first breakdown was a truck that got stuck on Floradale Avenue. The Tree Department truck, equipped with a winch, went down and freed the stuck truck, but broke its own axle in the process, and had to retire from service.

Trouble developed with the lights on the town grader. They kept on burning out, and finally it was good only for daylight hours.

The 1946 Dodge, in the Water Department, sheared the bolts holding one wheel, and was out of the fight for some hours, until the bolts could be replaced. Old No. 1, the oldest truck in the Highway Department, had to retire, too.

Late Saturday evening, the crews straggled into the Highway Department garage, one by one. Bill Babine, the tree warden, was answering the phone.

"Here's a call from Roosevelt Road," he said. "Who can do it?"

Glazed and weary eyes nodded, but only in assent. Out to the truck went one of the crews, and off they started for Roosevelt Road.

Another call came in as the telephone just didn't stop ringing. This time, it was Garden Avenue. Your reporter climbed into the truck with two operators. Let's just call them Willy and Joe.

The truck was a powerful International, with five forward speeds. The hydraulic line for the brakes was broken. In fact, it was now broken for the second time that day. Once before, a slipping tire chain had thrashed out, cutting the line. It had been repaired. Now, for the second time, the truck was without brakes, except for the emergency brake. Your reporter was pressed into duty as the "brakeman." Willy drove and Joe handled the hydraulic gear that controlled the plow blade.

Down Glen Road the truck went. Going down the hill approaching King Street, it was only the hand brake that kept the truck within a reasonable speed.

We turned onto King Street and the plow was lowered. The snow nearly flew off the blade as the truck proceeded in top speed, in its lowest gear. Skillfully, Willy avoided throwing snow into driveways, already shoveled out by hard hand labor. A parked car loomed ahead.

Willy threw the truck out of gear and she stopped instantly, from the pressure of the snow. No need of using the hand brake now. Willy leaned on the horn for a half a minute, and someone came out of a house, waved a hand in acknowledgment, and drove off with the car. The truck started off again, and then turned left onto Garden Avenue.

Here the going was tougher. Garden Avenue, for a good length, was unplowed. Willy frequently had to back up and attack drifts for a second or third time. Down Brattle Street we turned, still pushing aside unturned snow. The truck came out to Glen Road.

A small boy stood there. Would the truck please plow St. Paul Street?

Down to St. Paul Street we went. It, too, was untouched. Willy maneuvered into position, and then stepped on the gas, sending snow flying into the air. A sudden jar, heavy and bone-rattling, struck the truck. What was that?

The answer was laconic.

remaining school. Only one school was of the same caliber as Wilmington, but the rest could not measure up, leaving only Wilmington and champion Hamilton-Wenham Regional at the top of the field.

After their incredible advancement, the drama guild was welcomed back to Wilmington with a police escort through town. Eight drama guild alumni from past years had come back to the high school to celebrate the amazing performance, greeting the arriving champions with cheers and confetti. The team has exceeded their own expectations and have truly set a new standard in Wilmington for what constitutes a talented drama guild, having displayed the most successful season in history.

The state finals, held in the Back Bay Performance Center in Boston, is a three-day event that showcases the very best drama guilds in the state. Wilmington is performing on the second day, March 22nd, at 2:30, the second performance of the day. Still Falls The Rain, which has dazzled its critics and earned standing ovations from its viewers at the last two performances, will have an opportunity to be performed with the highest caliber of high school drama in the state, the pinnacle of Massachusetts High School Theatre. Already having made history, a strong performance here could propel the Lamplighters toward something even grander: high school immortality.

Cogswell and Bergstrom are

Recognized as top seniors at Shawsheen Tech

Kyle Cogswell, Billerica

Kyle Bergstrom, Billerica

BILLERICA - Kyle Cogswell and Taylor Bergstrom were recently named the Seniors of the Month for February at Shawsheen Valley Technical High School.

Bergstrom, of Billerica, almost defines the term student-athlete. One of Shawsheen's top masonry students with a grade-point average of 3.91 and ranked in the top 15 of her class academically, Bergstrom is also a hard-working athlete for the Rams.

In her time at the high school, Bergstrom has played soccer, basketball, softball and hockey, but has been a key contributor to the soccer and basketball squads in particular. As one of the best defenders in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference, Bergstrom helped the soccer team win consecutive league championships while also helping the basketball team to reach both the state vocational and state Div. 4 tournaments.

Bergstrom is more than just sports, however. She's a member of the National Honor Society, a high honor roll student and spends plenty of time outside of school as a volunteer. Bergstrom has donated time as a volunteer counselor at Billerica Recreation's summer camp, as an instructor at a Lexington summer soccer camp and at Rosie's Place, a sanctuary for poor and homeless women in Boston that offers emergency and long-term assistance to women who have nowhere else to turn.

Bergstrom plans to attend college in the fall.

Cogswell, a Billerica resident, keeps busy both in and out of the classroom.

A drafting student ranked in the top 10 of his class academically, Cogswell has been an honor-roll student for four years at Shawsheen, was honored with a John and Abigail Adams Scholarship this year and also received a citizenship award last year.

Cogswell has also been an active volunteer, joining a Teen Dating Violence Awareness group and participating in the Boston Rape Crisis Center's Walk for Change charity event.

Cogswell, who has maintained a grade-point average of 3.93, plans on attending college in the fall.

Foreign Language Club hosts Culture Festival

WILMINGTON - To celebrate National Foreign Language Month, the Foreign Language Department is sponsoring its fourth biennial Culture Festival on Thursday evening, March 21st at 6:30 p.m. in the WHS cafeteria. Members of the Foreign Language Club and their advisors, Ms Pietro and Mrs Veliz are organizing the fundraiser to earn scholarship money for students continuing their study of foreign language and for those participating in high school sponsored travel programs.

Part of the proceeds will also go to support the town of Cymbili, Rwanda and a WHS student's volunteer efforts there.

Displays of foods, photos, crafts and music will showcase the many cultures that play a roll in the lives of the students and staff at WHS. There will also be individual and group performances in dance, music and martial arts which highlight various traditions of those cultures.

The public is invited to join them as they celebrate the many cultures of Wilmington on March 21.

Letters to the editor

Polimeno for re-election

Dear Editor:

The quality of education that our four children receive from Tewksbury Public Schools is certainly the most important municipal service that our family supports through our tax dollars. An investment that significant warrants very careful selection of the leadership to whom the success of the District is entrusted. After three years of exemplary service to the Tewksbury School Committee, we are pleased to endorse Krissy Polimeno for re-election.

With three school-aged children of her own, Krissy is deeply motivated to make significant and meaningful improvements to all aspects of the educational experience here in Tewksbury. She is always open to receive feedback from parents/guardians, students and community members concerning curriculum, facilities, staffing, processes and more. Our personal experience confirms that Krissy always follows through and takes action. In addition to school events and activities, Krissy is a tireless supporter of Tewksbury's youth sports programs, civic activities and community building events. You may have spotted her selling slush in the snack shack at the soccer field or welcoming drive thru donors at Zero Waste Day.

Thanks to strong working relationships with the administration and staff, Krissy is able to gather information and quickly resolve issues. She is fair and consistent and makes decisions with the best interests of the students at heart. Krissy is well connected with the Massachusetts Association of School Committees where she gathers best practices and benchmarking data to further her Committee's goal to make Tewksbury an outstanding school district.

Without a doubt, the Tewksbury School Committee is making great strides under Krissy's leadership as Chairperson. Her energy and enthusiasm will carry her into a second term that is filled with even more achievement and success stories. There is much for which to be proud in the Tewksbury Public Schools and we believe that Krissy has been an instrumental part of it. Please join us in casting a vote for Krissy Polimeno for re-election to the Tewksbury School Committee on April 6th.

Sincerely,
Beth & Jay McFadyen

O'Neill for Shawsheen Tech

Dear Editor,

I am writing in support of Rick O'Neill's election as one of Tewksbury's representatives on the Shawsheen Vo-Tech School Committee.

Rick's education and experience as a teacher, attorney, and two-term Tewksbury School Committee member uniquely qualify him to effectively represent the best interests of all our students.

On the Tewksbury School

Committee he demonstrated the ability to develop creative plans to improve education and the courage to change the status quo. He can be equally as effective for Shawsheen Vo-Tech.

Please join me in voting for Rick O'Neil for Shawsheen Vo-Tech School Committee.

Thank you,

Jay Kelley
Tewksbury

Puccia a diverse candidate

Dear Editor:

As a long time resident of Tewksbury, I would like to invite you to join my husband and me in supporting Lisa Puccia for School Committee. I have known Lisa for over 10 years and not only is she a great friend, loving and devoted wife and mother, but an involved parent.

For 9 years I had the pleasure of working side by side with her as a co-chair of the Tewksbury Special Education Parent Advisory Council (TSEPAC). Having worked with Lisa on different initiatives through this organization, I can attest to her commitment, sincerity, and results oriented approach. Lisa was instrumental in establishing the TSEPAC as a non-profit organization so that it could hold its own fundraisers to raise funding without impacting the schools budget. This allowed the TSEPAC to start such programs as The Outreach Program for Soccer (TOPS) and Little Reds Basketball for children with disabilities, offer annual scholarships to TMHS graduates, as well as workshops and seminars for parents. Lisa's commitment to children has been unwavering earning her the respect of local and state legislators for her work as an educational advocate.

For those of you that don't know Lisa, aside from being an educational advocate, she also is a strong advocate for veteran's issues, especially around those suffering from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). Over the years she has been a constant support for veterans and their families and has devoted her time to them in any way she can. Her father, who was a retired police officer and a veteran, passed away in November 2009, and suffered from this disorder. She also has a sibling that is affected by this as well. Even several years after her father's passing, these issues continue to remain near and dear to her heart.

While people may paint her as a "special education" candidate, she is far from that. Lisa is diverse and takes the time to understand the issues. She will pursue ways to work with the school administration to reduce special education spending without impacting services. She will also work collaboratively with other boards and departments in town to make sure that we are using every penny wisely and responsibly. That's the type of person we need representing our children.

We highly recommend Lisa for a position on the Tewksbury School Committee, and we hope that you will join us on April 6th in casting a vote for Lisa Puccia for School Committee.

Sincerely,
Jeanne and Chuck Bono

Acts of Kindness

by Jomarie O'Mahony

Embracing Wonder Woman

When I started writing these columns, I acknowledged that I would have to be willing to share personal information with all of you. As some of you may recall (and I cannot forget no matter how hard I try), I ran the first WOW road race in May 2011 dressed as Wonder Woman. Here is my confession, which may not come as a surprise- it terrified me. It terrified me like big exams, public speaking, and heights terrify people. I joked about it and kept trying to talk myself into it not being a big deal but the moment I laid eyes on the costume, I thought I was going to pass out. I honestly don't remember much about that race except the internal mantra I was repeating to myself "Eyes up, almost done. Eyes up, almost done."

I share this with you because we all have fears. We all have things that terrify us. Sometimes we are lucky in that we can avoid our fears and never really face them. Sometimes, we are even luckier and we are forced to overcome them. Although that day still hits the top three all-time terrifying moments in my life (accompanying the thought of childbirth and passing the bar exam) it also gave me the chance to embrace my Wonder Woman. Because of that day, road races no longer intimidate me in the slightest and the bar on public embarrassment was exponentially raised (please don't take that as a challenge!)

What does any of this have to do with spreading kindness? Simple. Some of you may fear trying to do something nice...maybe it is because you are afraid that you will become over-committed or maybe because you are afraid of feeling guilty when you encounter someone less fortunate. Perhaps you are afraid that you will get

"sucked in" to something and not be able to keep a healthy distance. Please hear me when I tell you- it is ok to feel all of the above and then some, and still try it anyway. Attempting one small act of kindness is so much more fulfilling than wondering what you can do that still allows you to avoid your fear. I have said in the past that the words "Let me know what I can do, to help" are sometimes words without true value. The person who speaks those words and then take the extra step of looking to see what can be done- that person is Wonder Woman- and she is in each and every one of you if you just allow her to see (feel free to substitute your inner superhero's name in all Wonder Woman references!).

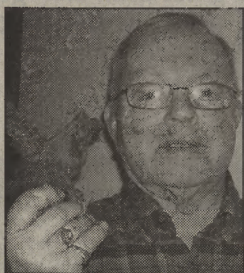

Last month, I shared a little bit with you about my faith and its importance in my life and my family's life. Since then, there was an act of vandalism targeting that faith. If I practice what I preach, it is not enough to just wonder what I can do and it is in the context that I invite you all to attend the Unity Rally with me on Sunday, April 7th at 1:15 at the Town Common. Whatever your faith, I think this is an opportunity for us all to show our strength and trust that good prevails. As Edmund Burke is sometimes quoted as saying: In order for evil to flourish, all that is required is for good men to do nothing.

And, who is better to fight the forces of evil than all of our superheroes out there!

As Christopher Reeve said, "A hero is an ordinary individual who finds the strength to persevere and endure in spite of overwhelming obstacles."

Bird and Blooms

by Gerry Duggan

Spring Fever

The weather-people have said March 1 is the first day of spring, as mandated by the World Meteorological Organization. It is September 1 in the southern hemisphere. And you always thought it was March 21st.

This year the vernal equinox occurs on March 20, the day when the days and nights are approximately equal everywhere and the sun rises and sets due east and west. Try to be outside at 7:02 am on March 20th to experience this silent event.

So much for weather science. Many years ago Don Kent on Channel 4 said that the red-winged blackbird was the true sign of spring and not the robin, as folklore taught us. Don said that red-winged blackbirds always migrated south in the fall, whereas we all know that not all robins migrate. I had robins eating my winterberry on the day before Christmas and have seen dozens of robins in North Reading and on a Butters Row lawn about a month ago.

Getting back to the spring thing, on March 1st I walked around the side of my house and around those feeders were several red-winged blackbirds, increasing in numbers the following days.

It hasn't felt like spring the past few days but as the days get warmer and snow melts we know spring is coming.

Likely anyone that puts out seed has had the slate colored junco. They move down out of Canada to our area for the winter. I have approximately 30 at any given time, though they are hard to count since they never stay still for long. One statistic indicates there are approximately 640 million slate colored juncos in the northern hemisphere, wonder who counted them or how they estimated that number?

I haven't seen any nuthatches until late this season. Dan on Sachem dropped me a note reporting a red-breasted nuthatch at his feeder along with a cooper's hawk, probably looking for an easy meal.

A very similar looking hawk is the sharp-shinned hawk, 3-4 inches shorter in length, more slender, and very difficult to tell the difference unless the birds are next to each other. While on hawks, I saw a beautiful red-tailed hawk soaring over Wildwood cemetery two weeks ago. They are in the same family group as the turkey vulture, which also I saw two weeks ago near Wildwood.

I've heard, but not seen, a couple of owls hooting almost every night for the past month or so. They are probably great horned owls trying to find a mate, which is during late winter, as they are year round residents along with the common screech owl, long-eared owl, barred owl, the barn owl, and the very small, about 8", saw-whet owl which has been seen in Wilmington.

Unfortunately owls are seldom seen, sometimes when you are out after dusk, you may have thought something flew by - that could have been an owl as they make no sound when they fly.

The only rare visitor to Wilmington that I have heard about was the pine grosbeak. It is about the size of a robin, and an adult male is dull rose-red, dark wings with two white bars while the female is gray, two white bars on wings, and head and rump tinged dull yellow. The pine grosbeak is usually year round in Canada, once in awhile into our area. These birds were seen and photographed on Research Drive, which is on other side of Rt. 125 off Andover St. There were pictures of them in the Town Crier in February.

I had the usual birds at my house this season, the slate-colored juncos, two pair of cardinals, always stunning with a snow background, the blue jays are making a comeback, have 7-8 on a regular basis.

Filling a suet basket on one side of my house, I encountered a numbers of birds in an evergreen tree behind it. When I finished filling it, the closest bird hopped onto basket, a red-breasted nuthatch. While I have seen chickadees come really close, this was first time a nuthatch ever came that close to me, I was arms length away from suet, this little guy didn't mind at all. Another red-breasted nuthatch, and two white-breasted nuthatches joined the first.

This season I have plenty of chickadees, tufted titmice, house finches, Carolina wrens, a few chipping sparrows, and tree sparrows. Lots of what we call English or house sparrows, which are not related to our native sparrows. The house sparrow is actually part of the weaver finch family. I have also had the downy, hairy, and red-bellied woodpeckers, mourning doves and, last but not least, crows.

I have no mocking birds around my house but have seen them in other parts of Wilmington. My feeders have also drawn 5 gray and 2 red squirrels.

On plants, not much at this time of year except a witch-hazel bush that I have in back yard. The witch hazel blooms in late February into March. It is not as bright yellow as the forsythia and the blooms are kind lacy. This year for the first time, I cut some branches and brought them into the house, put them in vase with water and the yellow flowers sort burst with the heat in the house, the tiny lacy "petals" extended out as much as they could, a very interesting specimen on the mantle.

I received e-mail from Ann B., which Ann received from the Friends of Minute Man National Park about their Winter Lecture series, which will be held at Bemis Hall, 15 Bedford Rd, Lincoln, MA. The program this Sunday, March 17th, is about "The actors on the Landscape: People and Birds," and the speaker will be Joan Walsh, of Mass Audubon. Ms Walsh, Director for Bird Monitoring at Mass Audubon in Lincoln, will look at the results of Mass Audubon's recent State of the Birds of Massachusetts and Breeding Atlas II and discuss the role that our shifting land-use practices have had upon our bird populations. As usual, if you have any questions or comments, you can e-mail at daidsaph@verizon.net or call 508-320-3092 afternoons only.

TIME IS RUNNING OUT!

Good Guys Needed!

WILMINGTON - The deadline is fast-approaching for this year's "GOOD GUY" nominations. Don't forget to nominate that special person you feel should be recognized by the town.

The "Good Guy" Award is given annually to an outstanding citizen--male or female--who lives in our community and gives of themselves to make our community a better place in which to live. A person's work performed as an elected official or through a paid employment position is not eligible for this award.

Nominations should be sent to the "Good Guy" Committee, c/o Bob DiPalma, 12 Harold Avenue, Wilmington, MA 01887, and should include your reasons why your "Good Guy or Gal" should be selected. If you wish to email your nomination, send it to: wilmingtongoodguy@verizon.net. All entries, to be eligible, must be received no later than 5:00 P.M. on Wednesday, March 27, 2013.

The award will be presented at the 45th Annual "Good Guy" event on Friday, May 10, 2013, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Wilmington, with a social time at 6:30 P.M. and dinner at 7:30 P.M. This will be your last opportunity to take a few minutes and let the Committee know who you feel is most deserving of this year's "Good Guy" Award. Thank you for your nominations.

Nomination Deadline: 5:00 P.M. Wednesday, March 27, 2013

Moving

On up!

American Insurance Agency relocating

WILMINGTON - As George Jefferson, the sitcom character of the 1975's, use to say, I'm movin' on up. As of March 15th, 2013, Jim Murray and the staff of American Insurance Agency can also say that. Effective on March 15th, the American Insurance Agency will be relocating to 404 Main Street, 1st Floor in Wilmington, Ma. This move is to better serve their customers.

Having been in Wilmington since 1982, American Insurance Agency's goal is to provide excellent service to their customers. Moving to 404 Main Street, 1st Floor, will allow the staff to continue to afford new and present customers the best service possible. You can depend on Jim, Kris and Debbie to extend a cordial welcome when you stop by to visit or discuss all your insurance needs.

As in the past, American Insurance Agency offers a full line of insurances from only the best companies in the state. Whether you are looking for homeowners or auto, you can depend on the staff to help find the company that provides you the best coverage for home, auto, boat, or any other type insurance you may require to meet your needs.

The phone number is the same. The staff is the same. The only difference is the location. Stop by so you too can say that "You are movin' on up" to American Insurance Agency at 404 Main Street, 1st Floor, in Wilmington, Ma.

Letters to the editor

Support for Wentworth

Dear Editor,
I am writing this letter in support of Jim Wentworth and his campaign for a seat on the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen.

I have known Jim for many years and what I like best about him is his enthusiasm and commitment to challenges. He has embraced our town, becoming involved in a variety of issues. Jim has constantly demonstrated an interest in meeting with people from a variety of perspectives and an ability to communicate his own thoughts and approaches. This was prevalent through his work with the new high school project as an extremely active participant in the new Tewksbury High School Community Outreach Team.

He demonstrates strong leadership skills, coupled with common sense and integrity. These assets have served him well particularly as a member of the Economic Development Committee and the Town Manager Screening Committee. He always puts the citizens of Tewksbury first.

Furthermore, Jim has three children who are in the Tewksbury School system. As an active member of a town PAC, I appreciate him taking into consideration the needs and challenges of not only our children but the whole community.

Please join me in voting for Jim Wentworth for election to the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen on April 6th.

Thank you,
Carolyn Gaglione
Tewksbury

Johnson for re-election

Dear Editor,
My parting words to my kids as they leave the house each time are "love you, make good choices." Life is all about making good choices, which as we all know, is not as easy as it sounds!

I recently made a difficult choice not to seek another term on the Board of Selectmen in Tewksbury. However, I made an easy choice to support Todd Johnson's re-election efforts. Todd will continue to represent our community's interests on the Board of Selectmen.

I believe that to be an effective board member one must be prepared to make difficult decisions and choices, representing all of the residents of Tewksbury. I believe

- a member must be open to all voices and opinions;
- work to analyze the issues and research the data;

- refrain from doing creative math;
- and, of course, ask questions; aspiring toward TOTAL transparency.

Todd Johnson possesses the proven ability to implement ALL of the above.

His high level of commitment, which I personally admire, is what we as a community should expect and deserve from our elected officials. He understands and advocates for the entire Town of Tewksbury. Most importantly, he has no agenda other than to move Tewksbury forward in a positive direction with the residents' best interests at the forefront of his decisions making at all times.

Make an easy choice with me. Vote Todd Johnson for Board of Selectman on April 6, 2013.

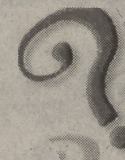

Respectfully,
Anne Marie Stronach

Let's Hear it!!

Your Two Cents...

Invite parents into process

It is unfortunate that there was no parent representation in the "think tank" that resulted in the Middle School's decision to reduce instructional time for foreign languages. Once again, it appears as though we are teaching to the test (MCAS) and not considering what is in the best interest of our children's future given the global economy that we live in.

Letter to the editor

Wentworth ready to lead

Dear Editor,
Jim is a friend of mine and as selectman I trust him to lead Tewksbury in the right directions. Tewksbury is a small town that cannot afford to make mistakes. Jim will act accordingly ensuring that it never happens.

Jim Wentworth will operate boldly, while exercising care and caution.

He loves his family, community, and working with young people. He is a good and decent man treating everyone with equal respect.

We served on a Town Manager Screening Committee together and our task was to provide three candidates for the Board of Selectmen to choose from. One of the three names presented to the Board was Richard Montuori.

Richard Montuori became the selectmen's final choice.

Wentworth played a key role on the screening committee, showing up throughout the summer with new information and was always prepared to move Tewksbury forward.

It was an honor to serve on this screening committee because we all cared deeply about Tewksbury. We understood the importance of our mission and how much our friends and neighbors were counting on us to submit the best town manager candidate available, and working together we accomplished that goal.

Jim Wentworth demonstrated the following qualities during the process:

- He possessed the ability to motivate the team during situations when we were locked in grid lock.

- Jim was able to function professionally, performing well during heated discussions.

- He arrived at every meeting with bundles of new information regarding various candidates and their recorded performance history.

- Jim was always in control of his emotions, they never controlled him. He maintained a sense of humor during difficult times having a calming effect on others.

- He has developed great communication skills.

- Possibly Jim's greatest resource is his ability to provide new, workable ideas. He never has to search very far for a great idea.

We didn't agree on everything, however, that was simply a matter of personal choices with no right or wrong answer.

Without hesitation, I strongly endorse Jim Wentworth for Tewksbury Board of Selectmen on April 6th.

Don Ordway

Puccia for Tewksbury School Committee

Dear Editor:

The Tewksbury Community is so fortunate to have a woman like Lisa Puccia step forward to run for Tewksbury School Committee. As a good friend of Lisa for many years, I am writing this letter to enthusiastically support her endeavor.

As a mother of four school aged children, I have never seen anyone who has the energy that she exhibits. Whether it is as a CCD teacher, basketball coach, or volunteer in her community, Lisa has always been involved in every aspect of her children's lives.

I have also had the distinct pleasure of working with Lisa for the non-profit agency Liam Nation, Inc., an organization that raises awareness and provides funding and support to help improve the lives of people with physical and cognitive disabilities. Lisa has been an invaluable asset to this organization as she has had the vast experience of running a non-profit organization.

Lisa understands the needs of ALL the children and has a solid understanding of the educational system. I've never met someone who has so much passion, knowledge, and experience in helping families work together successfully with their school district, even those districts outside of Tewksbury.

I am honored to have the opportunity to support and recommend Lisa Puccia for this position. She will be an amazing asset to the Tewksbury School Committee.

Support for Polimeno

Dear Editor,

I am confidently voting for Krissy Polimeno for Tewksbury School Committee because she has the leadership skills to move our schools into the 21st Century. If you open the dictionary, it will define a leader as one who guides, one who is in command and one who has influence. Leadership is defined as the capacity and ability to lead, guide and direct. These definitions define Krissy's efforts on the School Committee for the past three years!

She is currently the Chairperson of the School Committee, a position she has held for two years after being a member of the Committee for one short year. This is not a typical occurrence, but then again Krissy's drive is not typical either. Her peers, myself included, nominated and selected her for this critical position because Krissy instinctively approaches every task with an open mind, never looking for the easy way out. At the end of the day, for me it's Krissy's gift to work well with whomever she comes in contact with. I believe positive collaboration is her greatest strength, it is a required asset for anyone who aspires to be a School Committee member. These qualities and capabilities were evident by her well-deserved award by the State's School Committee Association in recognition of her support for children and public education for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in November 2012.

In closing, Tewksbury would be well served by Krissy's collaborative methods, strong fiscal accountability, resilient advocacy for our school community and her boundless energy! Please join me and vote for Krissy Polimeno for School Committee on April 6, 2013.

Dennis Francis

Acting Labor Secretary hosts minimum-wage forum

Low-wage earners share their stories

By ANDRE J. BOWSER
Office of Public Affairs,
Boston

BOSTON — Raising the minimum wage isn't for the purpose of helping workers to afford luxuries, it's for the necessities, said acting Secretary of Labor Seth D. Harris during a town-hall style discussion with low-wage workers on Feb. 28 at a family service center in Boston.

"It's not go-to-the movies money," Harris told the two dozen or so attendees. "It's put-food-on-the-table money."

Harris asked the gathering workers at an Action for Boston Community Development's Elm Hill Family Service Center in Roxbury how many of them had to choose between food or paying a bill.

Nearly every hand was raised.

Harris shared with the workers the president's commitment to raise the federal minimum wage from its current rate of $7.25 per hour to $9 per hour by 2015.

"In Massachusetts, there's already a higher wage of $8 [per hour]," he said. "The reason I am here, more than anything, is I want to hear from all of you about your needs."

Part-time movie theater worker and mom Patricia Federico said she is tired of hearing the argument that minimum-wage workers are mostly teenagers looking for a disposable income.

"There is this misperception that minimum wage is basically for teenagers and college kids," she said. "Most of the people that come in [for work] are not teenagers—and the teens or young adults that do work at the movie theater are actually chipping in to their family's income to help support the household."

Retail worker Melanie Brown was one of those who said she sometimes must choose between paying a bill or feeding her family.

"I want to be able to provide more for my children so that they can have a better life," said the single mother. "It's crippling me because I'm struggling with 'either I'm going to feed my kids, or I'm going to pay my rent.'"

The event brought together low-wage workers with federal, state and community officials, including the state Secretary of Labor and Workforce Development Joanne Goldstein, ABCD

President John Drew and an organizer for MassUniting, Darrin Howell.

Boston Mayor Tom Menino, although unable to attend the event, directed Bostonians to the event via his Twitter page: "Welcome to #Boston @ActingSecHarris. Follow @USDOL today at 3:30 to hear what #minimumwage increase would mean for Boston families."

Goldstein told the workers that the state has been fighting for more money for low-wage workers to help their families keep up with the ever-rising cost of living.

"We are working across all state agencies to protect the minimum-wage workers," she said, pointing to the governor's task force against underground and misclassified workers to prevent employers from labeling actual employees as contractors or falsely as part-time workers, adding: "For those of you who work for temp agencies, we have a new law to protect you."

Harris said that the debate to raise the minimum wage is greatly aided by workers who share their stories.

"Low-wage earners are some of the hardest-working people in this country," he said. "Thank you for taking time off to come here today because, for working families, I know taking time off means money."

Patricia F. Brennan

Executive Assistant for the U. S. Government, Department of Veterans

TEWKSBURY - Patricia F. Brennan, of Tewksbury, formerly a long-time resident of Everett, died unexpectedly on March 9, 2013, at the Mass. General Hospital in Boston.

Patricia was born in Boston on January 17, 1936, she was the cherished only daughter of the late Joe and Catherine (Bickford) Brennan. Patricia was raised and educated in Everett and a graduate of Girls Catholic High School in 1956. Patricia was a lifelong resident of Everett before moving to Tewksbury in 2002 where she enjoyed the company of many friends.

Prior to retiring, Patricia worked as an Executive Assistant for the U. S. Government, Department of Veterans for more than 40 years, where she was well liked and respected by her co-workers.

Patricia will be fondly remembered for devotion and unconditional love for her family, she loved being a mother, mother-in-law, and adored being with her granddaughters; they were the light of her life. She was a big Patriots and Red Sox fan, and a loyal friend to many. Patricia approached life with a great sense of humor, she handled adversity with courage and grace, and always did the best she could with what she had. Pat was quite a lady and will be greatly missed by many.

Patricia was the beloved and devoted mother of her kids Tricia C. Brennan and Patrick Noble, proud and loving "Nana" of Violet and Remi Noble, all of Tewksbury, cherished daughter of the late Joe and Catherine (Bickford) Brennan, dear sister of the late James Brennan. Patricia is survived by many nieces, nephews, cousins, and good friends.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Thursday, March 14th at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Dorothy's Church, Main St. (Rte. 38), Wilmington at 10:00 a.m. Interment will follow in Glenwood Cemetery, Everett. Visiting hours will be held at the Funeral Home on Wednesday, March 13th from 6-8 p.m. Memorial donations in Patricia's name may be made to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 262 Danny Thomas Place, Memphis, TN 38105.

Judith M. DiPalma

Started Wilmington's AIM Group; Wilmington "Good Guy" 1986

WILMINGTON - Judith M. "Judy" (Livingstone) DiPalma, age 68, a long-time resident of Wilmington, passed away peacefully on March 13, 2013 at the Sunny Acres Nursing Center in Chelmsford, surrounded by her loving family. Judy was born in Boston on April 30, 1944. She was the cherished daughter of the late Roderick and Nellie (McCullen) Livingstone. Judy was raised in Hyde Park and was a graduate of Hyde Park High School. After high school, Judy took a job at Sears in the Fenway and worked her way up to division manager.

Judy was married to the love of her life, Robert "Bob" DiPalma in 1965. Judy and Bob began to raise a family. They were blessed with two daughters, Paula and Pamela, and the family moved to Wilmington in 1975, where they have had a huge impact on the community ever since. Judy got involved with schools that the kids attended, became a member of the PTA, volunteered with the Girl Scouts, and even started a Brownie Troup, since her girls were too young for Girl Scouts.

At the young age of 22,

Judy was diagnosed with Multiple Sclerosis. Judy not only fought through her illness, she strived from it. She served as a peer counselor for the M.S. Society, helping others who have been diagnosed. She was also a reliable volunteer for the organization, helping them in whatever was needed, including fundraising. Judy was led through this time not only with the love and support of her family and friends, but also her strong belief in God. Judy was a member of the Presbyterian Church in Newton. The church was a big part of her life. She attended services there as a child and was also married in the church. Judy remained very involved in the church and they will miss her presence greatly.

One of Judy's greatest accomplishments was when she started the A.I.M. Group in Wilmington. This was a social event for people of all handicaps and a chance for other people to volunteer. The group has grown over the years and is still going strong, meeting once a week in Wilmington and giving people the opportunity to get out and meet new members. With all the work she has done over the years, countless hours of volunteering, Judy was recognized by the Town of Wilmington as the "Wilmington Good Guy" in 1986. The community will always be grateful for having such a kind, caring and giving person in it.

Judy's most important thing in life was her family. Her love and devotion to her husband, children and grandchildren were unmatched. She lived for her four grandchildren Robert, Gabrielle, Danielle and Troy, Judy loved to have them around and talk about them to whoever would listen. She was a wonderful woman who had the respect and admiration of all who knew her and will be greatly missed.

Judy was the beloved wife of Robert A. DiPalma of Wilmington. She was the loving mother of Paula A. Dierking and her husband John of Mesa, AZ and Pamela L. Marcinkewich and her husband Walter of Tyngsborough. Judy was the devoted grandmother of Robert and Gabrielle Dierking and Danielle and Troy Marcinkewich. She was the dear sister of David Livingstone and his wife Sandell, Carol Filiccia and her husband Ralph and the late Alice Jenkins. Judy is also survived by her mother-in-law, Josephine DiPalma of Chelmsford and many nieces, nephews and friends.

Family and friends will gather for a funeral service on Saturday, March 16th, 2013 at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington, at 10:00 a.m. Visiting hours will be held on Friday, March 15th, from 3-8 p.m. Memorial donations in Judy's name can be made to A.I.M., c/o Elizabeth Peters, 16 Fairmeadow Rd., Wilmington, MA 01887.

Lloyd V. Huber

Comptroller for the Stancial McCullough
Company; WWII Navy Veteran

WILMINGTON - Lloyd V. Huber, age 88, a long-time resident of Wilmington, passed away on March 6th, 2013 at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford.

He was born in Malden on December 14, 1924, he was the son of the late Alfred and Lily May (Nauss) Huber. He was raised in Malden and upon graduating high school, he enlisted in the United States Navy to serve our country during World War II. During his time in the Navy, he was stationed aboard the destroyer, the USS Johnston, which was torpedoed by the Japanese at the Leyte Gulf Battle. He made many friends while in the service and even took a trip out to Minnesota for a Veterans Reunion with many of his shipmates.

Lloyd moved to Wilmington in 1962. Lloyd was employed as a comptroller for the Stancial McCullough Company out of Medford. He was a quiet natured man. He enjoyed to do woodworking and gardening around his house. Lloyd was also a devoted husband, as he was married to his wife Patricia for over 50 years.

Lloyd was the beloved husband of Patricia J. (Talbot) Huber of Wilmington. He was the loving father of Randy Huber, Linda Umla and the late Gary Huber, step-father of Dawn Coy-Medeiros and the late Scott MacGillivray. He was the cherished grandfather of Tanner Scott Coy, Ian Ross Coy and Adora Taylor Coy, great grandchild Aidan Scott Coy as well as many other grandchildren and great-grandchildren. He was the brother in law of Barbara J. Groom. Lloyd is also survived by several nieces and nephews.

Family and friends gathered for a funeral service on Monday, March 11th, at the Nichols Funeral Home, Wilmington at 1:00 p.m. Lloyd was buried with military honors in Wildwood Cemetery. Visiting hours were held on Sunday, March 10th, from 1-5 p.m. Memorial donations in Lloyd's name can be made to Wounded Warrior Project, P.O. Box 758517, Topeka, Kansas 66675.

Charlotte L. Jones

Worked for Accounting Department at
AVCO/Textron; avid Americana/Flag collector

WILMINGTON - Charlotte L. (Tyler) Jones, age 91, of Wilmington, died peacefully on March 12, 2013, at the Winchester Hospital.

Charlotte was born and raised in Bridgeport, CT, she was the cherished daughter of the late Anna Lillian Tyler.

Charlotte met "the love of her life" Herbert Jones while working at Woolworth's Department Store in Bridgeport, CT, it was love at first sight and the couple soon married before Herbert went off to serve the country.

When Herbert was discharged he returned home to Charlotte and the couple lived in Connecticut with their daughter Barbara before moving to Wilmington in 1956 after son Leo was born.

Prior to retiring, Charlotte worked in the Accounting Department for AVCO/Textron Company in Wilmington for many years. Charlotte was a dedicated and dependable employee and made many life-long friendships with her co-workers.

Charlotte was an avid collector, being born on "Flag Day" made her a collector of anything "Americana" and red, white, and blue were some of her favorite colors. Charlotte's favorite holiday was Christmas and she collected all kinds of "Santa's", she loved her many Christmas decorations and displayed them throughout the year; Christmas at Charlotte's was all year long.

Charlotte was a talented craftsman, she built many miniature doll houses that were decorated for certain occasions. Charlotte would often give them as gifts to her family and friends; you knew you were special if you received one of her creations.

Charlotte will be remembered for being friendly, loyal, and for her fiery personality. She was very devoted to her family and her friends. Charlotte was a wonderful wife, mother, grandmother, and a true friend. She enjoyed her many outings with her loved one's whether it was a special occasion, out to lunch, or on her many shopping sprees, she always made everything an adventure and she will be greatly missed.

Charlotte was the beloved wife of the late Herbert Jones, devoted mother of the late Barbara (Jones) McLaughlin and Leo Jones, loving "Grandma" of Michael McLaughlin of Los Angeles, CA, Beth LeBlanc and her husband Peter of Revere, and the late Robert McLaughlin, "Great-Grandma" of Peter, Joseph, and Collin LeBlanc. Charlotte is also survived by many good friends.

Family and Friends will gather for Visitation at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Monday, March 18th from 10-11:30 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Thomas Church, 126 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington at 12:00 noon. Interment will follow in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Memorial donations in Charlotte's name may be made to the American Diabetes Association 1701 North Beauregard Street Alexandria, VA 22311

Whitey Bulger talk this Saturday

Library News

Boston Globe Reporters Dish On Whitey Bulger

On Saturday, March 16 at 2pm, authors Shelley Murphy and Kevin Cullen will discuss their new book: Whitey Bulger: America's Most Wanted Gangster and the Manhunt That Brought Him to Justice. Raised in a South Boston housing project, James "Whitey" Bulger became the most wanted fugitive of his generation. In their brand new book, rich with family ties and intrigue, award-winning Boston Globe reporters Kevin Cullen and Shelley Murphy follow Whitey's extraordinary criminal career - from teenage thievery to bank robberies to the building of his underworld empire and a string of brutal murders. Based on exclusive access and previously undisclosed documents, Cullen and Murphy explore the truth of the Whitey Bulger story. They reveal for the first time the extent of his two parallel family lives with different women, as well as his lifelong paranoia stemming in part from his experience in the CIA's MKULTRA program. They describe his support of the IRA and his unlikely role in the Boston busing crisis, and they show a keen understanding of his mindset while on the lam and behind bars. The result is the first full portrait of this legendary criminal figure and a gripping story of wiseguys and cops, horrendous government malfeasance, and a sixteen-year manhunt that climaxed in Whitey's dramatic capture in Santa Monica in June 2011. A book selling and signing will take place after their talk for anyone interested. See registration instructions below.

Tewksbury Senior Topics

Power tools for caregivers 3/27; Foxwoods trip 4/8; Oil painting class begins 4/18 sign up now

The Silvertones will hold its monthly dance at the Senior Center this Friday, March 15th beginning at 7:00 PM. Tickets are available at the door at $10 per person. Why not come on down and listen to the great big band sounds of our in-house band.

A note of thanks is extended to the following people who helped with the Corned Beef Dinner/Dance: Jim & Marlene DeBay, Tom & Clover Wilson; Lou Canistraro; Mary DeGuiseppe; Shirley Fuller; Allie Casazza; Kay Maher; Ruth Mank, Rose McKenna; Dolores Montecalvo; Arlene Wright; Diane Joy; Bruce Dias; Bill McDevitt; and, Bob Noel. A note of thanks is also extended to Jan Conole for making the delicious home made soda bread; to Laura Web of Fancy Fingers Plus Salon for donating pizelles for dessert; and to the Perfect Match Band for changing their gig to Saturday night. We also cannot forget to mention our "friendly paparazzi", Martha Marshall, who snuck in to take some celebrity shots of our dinner preparations.

On Friday, the day of the storm, the COA staff called the 132 people on the St. Pat's dinner list to notify them of the date change to Saturday, March 9th. Those who had to cancel due to other commitments, and noted so when called by the staff, will be refunded for their ticket cost. Please see Jan or Linda for your refund.

The Mohegan Sun day trip of March 7th was also canceled last week. This trip has been re-scheduled and will be held on Thursday, March 21st. Those who are signed up for this trip but can't make the new date of March 21st should notify Jan or Linda by next Monday, March 18th to get a refund. A count of the number of travelers will be given to the agent on the 19th at which time refunds will no longer be available unless filled by someone on the waiting list noting that at present there is no one on the waiting list.

Tickets are now available for the Foxwood day trip of Monday, April 8. The cost of this trip is $25 per person and includes motorcoach transportation, a casino package and the driver gratuity.

The MS Support Group will hold its monthly meeting next Monday, March 18th at 10:00 AM. This group is open to the public.

Karen Orband, RN, will be back to the Senior Center next Wednesday, March 20th at 10:30 AM for the "Diabetes Academy" hour. All are welcome to attend this informative hour. Ms. Orband is a wonderful lecturer; and, will be at the Center each month to talk about Diabetes. It is well worth your time to come on down for the "Diabetes Academy".

The Council on Aging will hold its regular monthly meeting next Wednesday, March 20th at 12:30 PM in the conference room. All are welcome to attend.

Then in the evening of March 20th the Red Hat Carnation Belles will hold a Chinese Dinner and Buffalo Bingo Night. Tickets are now available at $10 per person and must be purchased by next Monday, the 18th. Tickets are also available for the Red Hat April Event. More information is available on the bulletin board and from one of the Red Hat workers.

The Seniors and Friends will hold a YARD SALE at the Senior Center on Saturday, March 23rd from 9:00 AM to 2:00 PM. The Yard Sale is held rain or shine. There will be 30 tables of treasures, a bake table, and luncheon specials featuring Chef Nick's corn chowder. Mark your calendars for this big event.

DJ Jon Mansfield will be back to the Senior Center for an afternoon dance on Monday, March 25th.

Those who obtain a ticket by March 20th will have lunch included in the $6 tickets price.

Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley will conduct a 6 week seminar at the Tewksbury Senior Center on "Powerful Tools for Caregivers". This seminar will be held in the evening beginning on Wednesday, March 27th. For more information or to sign up for this free seminar, one may call Edler Services at 978-946-1251. Please note that space is limited. Therefore, it is advised that one register early.

Barbara Antinoro will be instructing a 6 week oil painting class beginning on Thursday, April 18th.

There are a few openings left in the class. The 6-week semester fee is $45 per person plus the cost of one's canvas. One may sign up at the Senior Center front desk or call 978-640-4480. This class is limited to 10 participants.

Our AARP Tax Assistance Volunteers are very busy assisting Seniors with their tax returns. At the present time names are only being taken for a waiting list. To place a name on the waiting list, one may drop by the Senior Center or call Jan at 978-640-4482.

The Tewksbury Board of Health and the Council on Aging will hold the Sixth Annual Health Fair at the Senior Center, 175 Chandler Street, on May 1, 2013 from 3:00 to 7:00 PM. The Fair is open to all and will provide health, safety, and preventive educational information. Free admission. There will be Free Diabetes, Hearing, Blood Pressure Screenings, Massages, Lions Eye Mobile, Music, Refreshments, and much more. If you are interested in being an exhibitor, contact Diane Joy, Senior Clerk Secretary, Office of the Board of Health 978-640-4470 or email djoy@tewksbury-ma.gov

Lastly, the public is reminded that the Senior Center Upscale Consignment Boutique and the Snooti Patooti Gift Shop are open from 11:00 AM to 3:00 PM Monday through Thursday. The Upscale is also open on Fridays from 9:30 to 11:00 AM. Both shoppes carry some unique items. Why not come on down and browse. All proceeds from the shops support the programs and activities at the Senior Center.

Five Easy Steps to a Low Maintenance Eco-friendly Landscape

Gardening expert Melinda Myers provides a plan to transform your landscape

It's possible to create a beautiful landscape and be kind to the environment even with a busy schedule and while staying within budget. "All it takes is a bit of planning and a few low maintenance strategies," says gardening expert and author Melinda Myers.

Myers recommends these five strategies to create a low maintenance eco-friendly landscape this season.

Be Waterwise

Save money on the water bill, time spent watering and this precious resource, water. Start by growing drought tolerant plants suited to your growing environment. Once established they will only need watering during extended dry spells. Mulch with shredded leaves, evergreen needles, woodchips, or other organic matter to conserve moisture, reduce weeds, and improve the soil as they decompose. Fertilize with a low nitrogen fertilizer, like Milorganite, that promotes slow steady growth instead of excessive greenery that requires more water. Plus, it won't burn even during drought.

Put rainwater to work all season long by using rain barrels to capture rainwater off your roof or directly from the sky.

Recycle Yard Waste in the Landscape

Minimize the amount of yard waste produced, reuse what can be in other areas of the landscape and recycle the rest as compost. These are just a few strategies that will save time bagging, hauling, and disposing of yard debris. And better yet, implementing this strategy will save money and time spent buying and transporting soil amendments, since it will be created right in the backyard.

Start by leaving grass clippings on the lawn. The short clippings break down quickly, adding organic matter, nutrients and moisture to the soil. Grow trees suited to the growing conditions and available space. That means less pruning and fewer trimmings that will need to be managed.

Make Compost at Home

Recycle yard waste into compost. Put plant waste into a heap and let it rot. Yes, it really is that simple. The more effort put into the process, the quicker the results.

Do not add insect-infested or diseased plant material or perennial weeds like quack grass, annual weeds gone to seed, or invasive plants. Most compost piles are not hot enough to kill these pests. And do not add meat, dairy, or bones that can attract rodents.

Manage Pests in Harmony with Nature

A healthy plant is the best defense against insects and disease. Select the most pest-resistant plants suited to the growing conditions and provide proper care.

Check plants regularly throughout the growing season. It is easier to control a few insects than the hundreds that can develop in a week or two. And when problems arise, look for the most eco-friendly control. Start by removing small infestations by hand. Consider traps, barriers, and natural products if further control is needed. And as always be sure to read and follow label directions carefully.

Energy Wise Landscape Design

Use landscape plantings to keep homes warmer in the winter and cooler in the summer. Homes will have a more comfortable temperature throughout the seasons and energy costs will be reduced.

Plant trees on the east and west side of a house to shade windows in the summer and let the sun shine in and warm it up through the south-facing windows in winter.

Shade air conditioners, so they run more efficiently and be sure to collect and use any water they produce for container gardens.

Incorporate these changes into gardening routines and habits over time. Soon these and many more strategies that help save time and money while being kind to the environment will seem to occur automatically.

Nationally known gardening expert, TV/radio host, author & columnist Melinda Myers has more than 30 years of horticulture experience and has written over 20 gardening books, including Can't Miss Small Space Gardening. She hosts the nationally syndicated Melinda's Garden Moment segments which air on over 115 TV and radio stations throughout the U.S. She is a columnist and contributing editor for Birds & Blooms magazine and writes the twice monthly "Gardeners' Questions" newspaper column. Shades of 1923! Guys and Girls from CTI had fun dressed as flappers last year on the Mighty Merrimack Riverboat Queen.

Join CTI Aboard the Mighty Merrimack Riverboat Queen

A Fundraiser to Prevent Homelessness with Presenting Sponsor Enterprise Bank

LOWELL, MA - Put the winter doldrums behind you, have some riverboat fun and help people facing homelessness! Join Community Teamwork Inc (CTI) for a Night Aboard the Mighty Merrimack Riverboat Queen, presented by Enterprise Bank and the Merrimack Valley Regional Network to End Homelessness, on Thursday, April 11, 2013, 6-10pm at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium.

Homelessness is a critical problem in the Merrimack Valley. Job losses, wage cuts, rising heat, utilities, medical costs and more have pushed hundreds in our community into homelessness and put many more at great risk.

Help us today by purchasing a ticket for $50 to this fun event: you'll receive $1,000 of Casino Play Money to get started right away with our casino games, and you'll enjoy a live "Las Vegas" floor show, raffles, delicious hors d'oeuvres and cash bar. Through a drawing, casino players can win spectacular prizes and each event ticket holder is entered into a drawing at the end of the evening for a chance to win a door prize of $500!

Last year the funds we raised, combined with other private and public resources, helped us prevent homelessness and offer stability to over 2,500 households across the Merrimack (visit www.comteam.org for details). Your support will help hard working families, children, veterans, senior citizens and people with disabilities avoid the hardship of eviction, foreclosure, heat and utility shutoffs, and the trauma of becoming homeless.

Valley

So join the fun Aboard the Mighty Merrimack Riverboat Queen and help support a very urgent need in our community! For tickets, information and sponsorship call 978 851-9350. All proceeds benefit families and individuals living in Greater Lowell and the Merrimack Valley who are facing or overcoming homelessness.

WHS Seniors Nicole Ledoux and Connor Burke rehearsed their duet for the WHS Talent Show on Tuesday evening. The show will be held on Friday March 15th. (photo by Maureen Lamoureux-www.shootingstarspix.com)

Talent "Thriller"

The act will have approximately 9 administrators and teachers: Diana Hill, Mike Hildt, Dennis Mahoney, Chris Phillips, Principal Eric Tracy, Lisa Desberg, Maura Tucker, and Lois Nardo. They will perform with 10 WHS students: Michelle Murray, Julia Ferraro, Danielle Biase, Jess Buske, Amber Peach, Ranièce Turner, Abby Chase, Sylvan Huynh, Laura Keller, and Colleen West.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for $10.00. There are no sponsors or advertisers; ticket sales alone cover costs for the talent show and will also help defray costs of class activities for senior year students.

Hooper would like to give special acknowledgement to those who offered their expertise behind-the-scenes: Stage Manager, Cassie Cushing; Sound Tech, Marc Shibilis; Assistant Coordinator, Michaela Rodenhiser; and Program Designer, Melanie Reagan.

"We have a lot of talented kids performing this year. It's usually a sell-out show," Hooper said. "The show has a variety of acts, including bands, dancers, and singers - both solos and duets."

Awards will be given to the top three acts: third place winner receives $30, second place receives $50, and first place receives $100.

next to the Fourth of July Building and the grassy area that was the site of the Swain School.

However, at an earlier Committee meeting, some residents expressed concern that the event's proposed location may incite excessive noise, debris, and unwanted inappropriate activity after the event's hours in the nearby neighborhood. In a correspondence to Garratt, School Street resident Nick Palky raised these concerns again.

"Placing a high capacity electricity generator, bright lights, noisy machinery, tall rides, screaming riders and loitering crowds for about a week in such a neighborhood may be considered harassment—if perpetrated by a private entity," read Palky's letter. "The residents in this neighborhood value peace and privacy very highly. By placing the carnival in the middle of this neighborhood, the July 4th committee will jeopardize our lifestyle—unnecessarily."

Garratt wrote a letter back to Palky. At the selectmen meeting, he covered its main points. Garratt pointed out that the generators the carnival vendor, Fiesta Shows, will use are considered "quiet generators," and that several measures to ensure that noise from the event does not exceed 10 pm on weeknights and 10:30 pm on weekends will be taken. To Palky's concern about potential criminal activity, Garratt deferred to the Wilmington Police Department, noting that he had faith in the department to control any potential activity.

The Fire, Police, Public Works, and Buildings Departments all gave approval to the Fourth of July Committee's proposal, despite the location's space constraint.

However, the event does not come without its challenges.

"We're going to have some parking issues," Garratt said. The plan is to allocate several lots throughout the town for parking and to coordinate with shuttle busses to cart residents to and from the events.

Board members shared Palky's concerns, but agreed the event is important to the town.

"My personal feeling is that I think this is a workable arrangement. I think going forward we really need to give a serious consideration whether the carnival can remain part of the program, but we'll certainly work with the arrangement as it is proposed," said Town Manager Jeffrey Hull.

Chairman Michael Newhouse added that he is not "married" to the idea of the carnival.

Garratt noted that much of the event's cost is supplemented by revenue from the carnival and that the non-profits who participate in the event may rely on the carnival to bring in residents. He noted that the carnival generates approximately $40,000 in revenue.

The board agreed that future Fourth of July events during the high school's construction will need closer examination, with the intent to potentially find a new location for the event. Due to the limited space, this year's carnival may be constricted in size.

"The intention is to have as much as a carnival there as we can while complying with safety regulations and satisfying Fire Department requirements," Garratt said.

concerns of residents included parking and inappropriate activities taking place after hours.

The group has a request that will appear before Town Meeting on May 4 for conceptual and schematic design funding. The purpose of the presentation was to give the Board of Selectmen a progress report, and it inspired Selectman Louis Cimaglia to feel proud of the involvement of residents in town.

"I think this is what we do," Cimaglia said.

Nancy Vallee, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, also attended the meeting to request approval to hold the ninth Annual Half Marathon and 5K Run/Walk on Sunday, September 22, beginning at 10 Waltham Street in front of WCTV. She reported that the 2012 event brought in about 625 walkers and runners, a 100 person increase from 2011.

"This year we are also looking to get both courses certified, which would provide additional credibility to the race and our runners," Vallee said.

The board approved Vallee's request with enthusiasm.

The board also approved the warrant for annual town meeting, which remains the same as what was presented at an earlier meeting.

ing, the Wilmington Board of Health is putting on a workshop that may help people understand and treat this disease, and even reverse potential overdoses, which may save lives.

On March 27th, from 6:00-7:30, a training on opioid overdose prevention will be held at the Wilmington Town Hall. At this training, nasal Narcan will be distributed. Nasal Narcan is a drug that can be used to reverse an Opioid overdose and save lives. This medication works to reverse the slow and weak breathing that is a symptom of Opioid overdose, blocking the Opioids when taken through the nose and allowing people who may have suffocated because of an overdose to breath normally. It is important to note that there is no known potential for abuse from this substance, and is not an Opioid rendered into a medication like other medications.

After a short training, this medication will be distributed to those who attend this workshop. The difference between an Opioid addict living to recover or dying in the throes of addiction could rest in the hands of someone trained to utilize nasal Narcan. Anyone who wishes to sign up for this workshop can contact the Board of Health at boh@town.wilmington.ma.us or at 978-658-4298.

well. Robert Hayes, who announced previously that he would not seek reelection to the school committee, will vacate the third seat.

Two elections this year are unchallenged.

Robert DePasquale, the incumbent candidate, is running for reelection for the housing authority. Robert J. Peterson is running for reelection to the Shawsheen Regional Committee. Wilmington has two seats on this ten-member board.

The candidates will have until March 28th to strike their name from the ballot if they desire. After that date, their names will appear on the ballot regardless of their intention or desire to hold office.

Mike Bodnar, who had pulled papers for the school committee and featured in last week's edition of the Town Crier did not return his papers and will not be on the ballot this year. He made a previous bid for school committee in 2011.

Wilmington and Franklin to meet up again

Heading back to the Garden

State Final:
Sunday,
1:30 pm

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

Familiar foes will square off on Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at the TD Garden when Wilmington High School and Franklin High School meet for the Division 2 Boys state ice hockey title.

North sectional champ Wilmington (20-3-2), will take on South sectional champion Franklin (17-7-2) in a rematch of last year's title game at the Garden, won by Wilmington 3-2, giving the Wildcats their first ever state championship.

If the Wildcats are going to become the first Division 2 team to win back to back state titles since Saugus in 2003 and 2004, they will have to overcome a Franklin team that will not only be seeking revenge for last season's defeat, but will also be making their third straight appearance in the championship game, having lost 2-1 to Tewksbury in 2011.

Wilmington coach Steve Scanlon knows that motivation is never a problem for any team in a state championship game, but if ever a team was looking for a little

Offense erupts in win over Danvers

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

LOWELL - If the idea of succeeding in post-season play is to be peaking at the right time, then the Wilmington High Hockey team seems to be following that plan to perfection.

The Wildcats have been playing at a high level all season long of course, but on Monday night at the Tsongas Center in their biggest game of the season, the No. 3 seed Wildcats played one of their most dominating games of the season, blowing out No. 8 Danvers by a score of 7-2 to capture their second straight Division 2 North sectional championship in impressive fashion.

The defending Division 2 state champion Wildcats will look to make it back-to-back state titles on Sunday afternoon at TD Garden at 3:30 pm when they take on Division 2 South Champion Franklin in a rematch of last year's title game, won by Wilmington by a score of 3-2. Franklin, who will be making its third straight appearance in the state final, defeated Oliver Ames, 3-1.

The Wildcats dominated from start to finish in Monday's sectional final, taking the lead just over a minute into the game and never letting up, scoring the final goal with less than four minutes to go, while adding plenty of other tallies in between.

Senior forward Brendan McDonough led the way offensively with a hat trick, including a pair of spectacular goals, while fellow senior and linemate Cam Owens tallied four assists on the night.

Junior goalie Drew Foley made 15 saves to earn the victory, including several big ones that stopped Danvers from gaining any momentum.

"I thought overall depth and speed we just had too much for them," said head coach Steve Scanlon of their gallant opponents from Danvers, who had handed the top seeded Beverly their first loss of the season earlier in the tournament.

"We're thrilled to be going back to the Garden."

The speed-advantage that Scanlon referred to was on full display throughout the night as the Wildcats continuously beat the Falcons to loose pucks and on several occasions blew past Falcon defenders on rushes into the Danvers zone.

The Wildcats speed was also a factor on the Wildcats first goal of the game, when junior forward Luke Foley beat everyone to a loose puck, popping in the rebound of an Owens shot to give the Wildcats a 1-0 advantage just 1:23 into the game.

McDonough doubled the Wildcats lead of the period with a great individual effort, fighting his way through two Danvers defenders before pocketing a perfect wrist shot into the top right corner of the net at the 11:27 mark of the period. Brian Pickett and Anthony Castellano assisted on the goal to make it 2-0 and the Wildcats would take that lead to the locker room at the end of the first period.

The Wildcats were not at their best in the first period, but that second goal seemed to give them the spark they needed to start rolling.

"We were a little sluggish at the start I thought. The kids complained about it being a little warm out there. Everybody was hot. I think we had a little bit of jitters even though we've been here," Scanlon said. "Getting a couple early helped out. Everybody relaxed a little."

It was clear that Danvers would need to score the next goal if they had any chance of getting back in the game, and the Falcons must have sensed it as well as they seemed to come out with a renewed sense of purpose in the second period.

They were rewarded for their hard work at the 3:09 mark of the period when leading scorer A.J. Cuoto scored his 18th goal of the season to bring Danvers within one at 2-1.

Whatever momentum Danvers might have gained from the goal, however, was wiped out just 50 seconds later when McDonough scored his second goal of the game on another tremendous individual effort, this time coming in on the right

LOWELL - Besides the actual team celebration when the game was over, there was a great moment during Monday night's win over Danvers that really stuck out. After scoring his third goal of the game coming with just 7:58 left in the second period, Wilmington High junior forward Brendan McDonough was at the left hand circle and pumped his fists, while looking up. Apparently he was thanking the 'Hockey Gods' who helped this very talented kid become the star of the game in which he clearly dominated from start to finish.

McDonough couldn't be stopped during Monday's 7-2 Division 2 North sectional championship win over Danvers at the Tsongas Arena. He scored three goals in the first 21:02 of the game, before adding an assist later on, and two of his goals were dynamic individual efforts. All three of his goals were set up by Cam Owens, but it was McDonough who polished off those chances, finding the back of the net all three times.

"They both played great," Scanlon said of the Owens and McDonough combination. "And that's a great line, (along with Jake Rogers). That's a high octane line that can move the puck very well and they get good results. They can really stretch a defense out."

"McDonough is a sniper and we have been getting after him to shoot a bit more. He has a real good shot. He's

Recipe to win is pretty easy

By JAMIE POTE

LOWELL - Sunday will mark the fourth time that a Wilmington High School Boys Hockey team will be playing for a state championship. The first two times, 1984 and 2008, the 'Cats were defeated and then last year Wilmington won its first ever state championship crown with the thrilling 3-2 victory over Franklin.

Wilmington will take on Franklin for the second straight year at the Garden Sunday at 1:30 pm. Franklin defeated Oliver Ames in the Division 2 South Final on Tuesday.

It's been no secret all season long that the Wildcats had the talent to reach the state championship game again. That was believed to be true since almost all of the line-up from last year's team returned, minus a few star players, including captain Dalton Rolli. But the core of the team was back including three stud players forwards Cam Owens and Brendan McDonough and goalie Drew Foley, as well as a very good surrounding cast with guys like Brian Pickett, Jake Rogers and a very much improved Dylan DiNatale.

This year's team will try to become the second WHS athletic program to win back-to-back state titles since the softball team did it back in 1993 and 1994. Actually the two programs are a lot alike. The softball team had the ace pitcher in Adrienne Fay and a superior defense around her, especially up the

Terrific showing by the underdogs in sectional semi-finals

Wildcats take Reading down to the wire

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

WOBURN - They were done. Finished. Kaput.

You can pick whichever word you want, but the bottom line is the Wilmington High Girls Basketball team literally found themselves in a no-win situation last Thursday night in the semi-finals of the Division 2 North sectional tournament at Woburn High School.

Down 17 points halfway through the third quarter to a Reading team that had won 47 straight games, it looked like a good time for the Wildcats to simply pack it in and admit that they just weren't good enough to hang with the best team in the state at that time.

But somebody forgot to tell that to the Wildcats, who staged a furious rally to close within four points at the end of three quarter and pulled within one in the fourth quarter before finally succumbing to the powerful Rockets by a score of 63-51, ending what had been a tremendous season with a 14-9 record.

While they were not able to pull off the stunning upset, the Wildcats showed in defeat what type of team they had been all season long, having battled back from a 0-4 start to the season to finish as one of top eight teams in all of Division 2.

"I am proud of my kids. We had a great season. There is no shame in losing to Reading," said Wildcats coach Jay Keane. "We were right in it until the last couple of minutes. We never quit. Our goal today was to hang around and I thought we did that right up until the last couple of minutes."

Senior guard Alex Derian led the Wildcats with 14 points, including four three-pointers, while senior forward Michelle Woods had 12 points and eight rebounds. Junior guards Carli and Christa Brent were also outstanding for the Wildcats, scoring nine and seven points, respectively. This was Carli's first game back after sitting out the previous two with Mono.

Despite battling Reading very tough for much of the first half the Wildcats still found themselves in a 33-21 hole at the break, as Reading's spectacular Olivia Healy had 20 first half points on her way to a 36 point night.

"It's just so hard to figure out how to defend them," Keane said. "You can try and go box-and-one on them, but one of the things Olivia Healy does not get credit for is how good a passer she is. She makes you pay. And then when we were in a two-three zone, she is getting by three girls. I have said this before, that she is the best player in the state."

When the University of Richmond bound Healy scored eight of Reading's first ten points in the third quarter the Rockets went out to a 43-26 lead with 4:15 left in the third quarter, and the only hope for the Wildcats appeared to be not getting blown out too badly.

That may have been the thinking of the people watching the game, but it certainly was not the case on the Wilmington bench.

Woods never had any doubt that her team would get back in the game.

"Our team is so hard working and we never give up," Woods said. "We always know there is always a chance for us and today was definitely an example of that. We all just worked together and we know we can do it as a team."

Wilmington certainly gave themselves a chance heading into the fourth quarter, outscoring Reading 15-2 through the rest of the quarter to close to within 45-41.

The run started innocently enough for the Wildcats with Carli Brent knocking down one of her three 3-pointers in the game to bring the Wildcats within 43-29. It seemed like just a bump in the road at the moment as Healy came right back to knock down a pair of free throws to extend the lead back to 45-29.

But those free throws would be the last points of the quarter for the Rockets as the Wildcats ran off 12 straight to close out the quarter.

Junior Rachael Mara started the run with a bucket and when Carli Brent missed the second of two free throws moments later Mara grabbed the rebound and put it back to make the score 45-34.

Five straight points by Derian, including an incredible off balance three-point-er that had to be seen to be believed brought the Wildcats to within 45-39 with 50 seconds left in the quarter and when Christa Brent hit a pretty floater in the lane with three seconds left the Wildcats were within 45-41 as the teams headed to the fourth quarter.

Woods says there was a very good reason for the Wildcats ability to get back in the game the way they did.

"I think the motivation that we have for each other and the support we have for each other was the reason we were able to come back," Woods said. "We all love each other so much and we always have each other's backs and are just there for each other."

A lay-up by Mara in the opening seconds of the fourth quarter extended the Wildcats run to 14-0 and brought them within 45-43 and after Reading finally ended the Wildcats run with a basket by Katie Starble, Wood responded with a three pointer to pull the Wildcats within 47-46 with 6:40 left in the game.

After Reading pushed the lead to 50-46 with 5:40 left, it looked like Woods was going to bring the Wildcats back within one point, but her three-pointer went halfway down before bouncing out.

After Woods near miss, Reading ran off five quick points to extend their lead to 55-46 and Wilmington never got any closer than seven points the rest of the way before finally falling by 12 points.

"We knew we had a couple of runs in us and we got it close, but we just could not get over the hump," Keane said. "But Reading made the shots when they needed to. That is why they are the number one team in the state."

"I did not go very deep on my bench. My kids were exhausted, but they never gave up."

The results were obviously not what Keane and his players would have liked, but he was rightfully very proud of the effort they gave him on this night and throughout the season as they battled back from a tough start to the season.

He was particularly proud of what his seven seniors, including captains Alex Derian and Michelle Woods along with Jackie Kennedy, Lauren McKenna, Caillin O'Flaherty, Meghan Priem and Kim Woods, brought to the team throughout the season.

"They were unbelievable. I have seven seniors, one of the biggest senior classes I have ever had and it's been a lot of fun," Keane said. "We started 0-4, and then 2-6, and here we are in the semi-finals in a one point game against the best team in the state."

Lynch finishes up impressive career at St. Mark's

By MIKE STOLLER
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington's J.T. Lynch became quite a marksman for the St. Marks School hockey team in Southborough. When asked what his best moment was during his four-year career on the ice for the Winged Lions, Lynch, a first-line center, didn't flinch.

"That's an easy one," he said, before describing his quick pinpoint snap shot that beat the goalie glove side just below the corner of the crossbar with 43 seconds left to defeat archrival Groton School, 4-3, in the last game of his high school career two weeks ago.

"That's the most memorable just because it was my final goal and we came out on top with all the seniors in the final game against our biggest rival, and we had never beat Groton until this year," said Lynch, whose strike came after St. Marks struck the game at 3-3 with 1:14 remaining.

Lynch explained that his winning goal capped a game in which St. Mark's, a preparatory school which plays in the Independent School League, defeated Groton on the road for the first time during his years with the team. In fact, he said, he and his fellow seniors on the Lions had never beaten the Crusaders, the school's rival since 1865, until an earlier home win this season. St. Marks won that game, 3-1, as Lynch picked up an assist.

"To see the reaction of our seniors and how they felt for JT was a great feeling," St. Marks' head coach Scott Young said, referring to Lynch's game-winning goal. "JT's a great kid. He's hard-working and talented. And it shows it in every game."

Young is one to know. Three years ago, he came back to coach at St. Marks, where he played his prep school hockey, before embarking on a long NHL career, which included Stanley Cup championships with the Pittsburgh Penguins in 1991 and the Colorado Avalanche in 1996. Young was just as impressed with the shot that Lynch blocked to end the game against Groton as he was with his game-winning strike.

"He blocked a huge shot with five seconds left, sacrificing his body," young said. "That's just the type of player JT is."

Another highlight to relive in Lynch's ice journey came last year when he scored his 20th goal of the campaign, capping a hat trick, in a home over against St. Georges, of Rhode Island in the next-to-last game of the regular season at Gardner Rink.

"It was a special moment," Lynch said. "I was pretty happy for that, because it was a personal goal for me to hit at least twenty, so I was proud to hit that."

Lynch's 20 strikes were third best in the league, as he also provided 15 assists. He said the team's talent and camaraderie contributed to his terrific season.

"We got off to a quick start and having the seniors that we did made it a good group," said the 5-foot-10, 165-pound Lynch, who helped lead Lions into the Small School Tournament as the eighth seed, before they lost in the first round to top-ranked Kimball Union Academy of New Hampshire. "It was easy to get going with a good group of guys. We were a strong team."

"JT could put some numbers up," Young said. "We had more of an offensive team last year, and he was able to capitalize on that."

The Lions, with the loss of those seniors to graduation, weren't as fortunate this winter, finishing with a 10-15-4 record. But, Lynch won the school's Tudor Hockey Prize, an honor for sportsmanship and hard work as well as skill on the ice. He also managed to total nine goals and eight assists, despite missing the first four games with an ankle injury he suffered in practice.

"It's an award that's not just for great goals and points and what you do on the scoreboard," Young said of the Tudor Prize. "It's about the player who gives that blue collar effort."

Lynch has put in that kind of effort throughout his high school career. He made a terrific first impression on Young when Young took over as coach of the Lions. Young cited another example in which Lynch, as a sophomore, blocked a shot with his helmet with about ten seconds left that sealed St. Mark's win in the BB&N Tourney.

"He sealed the game for us by blocking a shot with his head," Young praised. "It was my first year coaching the team. We beat BB&N in the final [of that tournament]."

Lynch, a four-year player, was named an ISL Honorable Mention All-Star during his junior and senior years. Before his 20-goal campaign, Lynch had eight goals and 15 assists as a sophomore. As a freshman, he scored six goals and had eight helpers.

After he graduates St. Marks in the spring, Lynch says he will continue his education (he's interested in biology), while playing hockey for perhaps a Division 3 school in New England, or competing in Junior Hockey.

"He's someone who will definitely help a hockey team in a big way wherever he goes," Young said of Lynch. "He's extremely coachable and coaches love to have someone they can trust and that they can constantly go to in critical situations - end-of game, short-handed, power play. And I trusted JT in any game."

Perhaps Lynch's modest

upbringing made him the successful player he is today. As a young player, he competed in the Wilmington youth leagues and in street hockey tilts among friends. But, as an only child, his real inspiration to play the sport came right from home. "While watching the Bruins as a little kid with my dad," he said.

Cats to face Franklin, Sunday at 1:30

extra edge, seeing Wilmington on the other side of the ice should provide it for Franklin. "They will be a dangerous team," Scanlon said. "It's their third time in a row getting there, so I expect us to have our hands full. I know they have a lot of the same kids as last year so we know a little about them, and they are going to be very tough."

Franklin will indeed be led by a pair of veteran forwards, in seniors Cam Curley and Aidan Isberg. Isberg led the Panthers this season with 18 goals and seven assists for 25 points, while Curley actually led the team in total scoring with 17-9-26 totals.

Other Panthers to watch include junior forward Troy Donahue (11-14-25), senior forward Dennis Pisani (7-18-25) and senior forward Mike Patjane (10-13-23).

Wilmington meanwhile will also be led by a senior heavy roster, with 10 seniors on the team, including the top line of Brendan McDonough (11-20-31), Cam Owens (14-16-30) and Jake Rogers (6-11-17).

McDonough and Owens have both been outstanding in the post season, particularly in the sectional finals on Monday against Danvers when McDonough had a hat trick and Owens had four assists.

Wilmington senior assistant captain Brian Pickett is looking forward to getting back to the Garden to defend the team's title.

"It's a little different this year, as a senior, because I don't know what I am doing next year if I am going to play so I want to finish out on top," Pickett said. "That is my goal and that has been our goal for four years."

Fellow senior Dylan DiNatale shared Pickett's sentiments on getting back to the championship game as a senior. He knows he and his teammates will be ready go right from the opening whistle.

"It's really important for us to get back there as seniors. This time we're not going to go in as nervous, so that will help us. We're all happy to be going back," DiNatale said. "Being there before will definitely help us. It takes away the nerves and the shakiness. We will be ready to go right off the bat. We know what to expect."

Of course, Franklin will also know what to expect. Wilmington would have had an advantage in experience over nearly every team in the state, but that is not the case against Franklin, who actually exceeds Wilmington in terms of championship experience, although not all of it has been good.

"They kind of always expect to get this far," Scanlon said. "They have the experience and you add to that their extra motivation to beat us, and they will be tough to beat."

But regardless of what motivation Franklin brings into the game, Scanlon knows his first order of business is to get his team to play at their best.

"At this point in the season it really is all about how your team plays," Scanlon said. "You just try to bring your 'A' game and not worry about what the other team is doing."

Franklin has battled their way to the state championship game by winning a number of close games. The Panthers, seeded seventh in Division 2 South, started their championship run with a 5-1 win over No. 10 Plymouth South, before beating No. 2 seed Martha's Vineyard 4-3 in overtime in the quarterfinals, No. 6 Mansfield 4-3 in the semi-finals and finally No. 4 Oliver Ames 3-1 in the sectional final.

Wilmington meanwhile, started their tournament with a somewhat sluggish 5-2 win over Stoneham in the opening round before showing improvement in a 4-1 win over Boston Latin in the quarter finals and then blowing out Lincoln Sudbury 6-0 in the semi-finals and Danvers 7-2 in the finals.

"We kind of designed our schedule at the end of the regular season to get us ready for the post season with some tough games," Scanlon said. "And it seems to have paid off, with the exception of that first game against Stoneham. We are playing very well."

If the Wildcats were to win back to back titles, they would join some exclusive company, as in addition to Saugus in 2003 and 2004, the only other Division 2 teams to win two state titles in a row are Falmouth in 1981 and 1982 and Matignon in 1987 and 1988.

Billerica won three state titles in a row in 1975, '76 and '77.

Pickett knows how big it would be for the team and the town if they were able to capture back to back titles.

"If we could do that it would be the biggest thing ever. I know I have sense of pride that I step on the ice" Pickett said. "If we could get it I would be stoked and so would my family and the kids on the team. It would be a really good feeling to get it again."

DiNatale would also love to make history, but he knows that he and his teammates can't get caught up thinking about making history.

"That's in the back of our minds," DiNatale said. "But our main focus is getting the win and coming out as champions."

Back-to-Back?

Dating back to 1943, only a handful of teams have won back-to-back state high school hockey championship titles, and a win this Sunday will put Wilmington into elite company.

From 1943 to 1971, there was only one division and only three teams were able to pull off the consecutive titles including Medford in 1943 and 1944 (although they shared the 1944 title with Needham), Lynn English in 1956 and 1957, and Needham in 1969 and 1970.

From 1972 to 1989, the playoff format expanded to Division 1 and Division 2. During those years, three Division 2 teams and one Division 1 team was crowned state champions in back-to-back years. Billerica became the first team to win it three years in a row, taking the Division 2 title in 1975, '76 and '77. Falmouth won it twice in 1981 and 1982 and then Matignon won it in 1987 and 1988.

The lone Division 1 team to do it was Catholic Memorial in 1987 and 1988 before the 1A tournament debuted in 1990. Since then, CM won the 1A title five years in a row from 1991 to 1995, then four years in a row from 1998-2001 and then three years in a row from 2003-05, followed up by BC High with consecutive titles in 2006-07 and most recently Malden Catholic the last two years.

And since the 1A tournament in 1990, only one other Division 2 team has won back-to-back titles and that was Saugus in 2003 and 2004.

Recipe for Wilmington to win Sunday is pretty easy

middle with the double play partners Nancy Pote and Laurie Southmayd, and centerfielder Leanne Harris, as well as different dynamite catchers each year, first Carrie Tarantino and second Lisa Southmayd. That core played for a terrific head coach named Paul Lyman, and currently he along with Fay, Harris and Pote are current WHS Athletic Hall of Famers, as well as both state championship softball teams.

Comparing that to the hockey, last year's squad will most definitely be first ballot Hall of Famers come nine years from now when the team is eligible, and as for players certainly Owens and Foley are on their way as individual Hall of Famers as Owens became the all-time leading scorer in the program's history earlier this season and Foley is bar none, the greatest goalie ever to suit up for the Blue and White.

And the third future Hall of Famer is coach Steve Scanlon, who regardless of Sunday's outcome, will be enshrined once he retires, joining his father Dick, as well as Lyman and many other outstanding coaches. His resume is as long and as impressive as Jack Parker, the legendary Boston University Coach, who retired on Monday.

No matter the talent, no matter the schedule or the coach you have calling the shots, getting back to the state championship game is a very difficult thing to do, no matter the sport. Hockey is probably the most difficult because at any given time, a lucky bounce here or there, a penalty called or not called or most likely a hot goaltender can steal a win away from any team, regardless how talented they are. Wilmington saw that about ten years ago, losing in the first round of the tournament to Salem, despite putting over 60 shots on net and Tewksbury saw that two weeks ago losing to Watertown, despite totally outplaying them the entire game.

So Sunday can't come soon enough for us fans, and of course Scanlon and his players. We all would like nothing but a second state championship crown, something that hasn't been done in Division 2 since Saugus accomplished the feat back in 2003 and 2004. In order for that to happen, Wilmington just has to continue to do what it has been doing since the second game of this tournament: that is play as a team. Including that 4-1 win over Boston Latin in the quarterfinals, the 'Cats have outscored their opponents 17-3, with follow up victories over Lincoln-Sudbury (6-0) and Danvers (7-2), the latter on Monday night to bring home the program's third sectional championship crown since 2008.

This Wildcat team is loaded with talent. The team's best two ingredients are skating ability, and playing defense. The last three games the team has gone back to playing team defense, holding teams to an average of 16 shots, which was roughly the number all season long. That's a very difficult task for opposing teams to beat Wilmington with just 16 shots on net in a game - especially against a superb goalie named Drew Foley.

"Especially with Drew in the net it's easier, but we have all been trying to keep as many shots away from him as we can," said senior defenseman Cameron Collins after Monday's win. "We have just tried to stay as strong as possible these last few games."

And Collins and company are hoping they can remain strong one last time, this Sunday, as Wilmington's quest of becoming a state championship team for the second straight year awaits.

"Especially being a senior, (getting back to the Garden) is a big deal so we're hoping we can go all the way," said Collins.

Here's hoping that the Wildcats can continue to play its incredible up-tempo, team oriented style, which is been the ultimate difference of knocking off 20 teams this year, and go all the way. The 21st win could happen on Sunday ... and that will be determined if the 'Cats display that winning team style of hockey which has been so fun to watch the past two years.

Offense erupts in win over Danvers

faceoff circle and muscling his way past the Danvers defender before slipping the puck past Falcons goalie Alex Taylor (23 saves).

"McDonough is a sniper. We have been getting after him to shoot the puck more," Scanlon said. "He's a big kid. He is bigger than he seems. He's put together pretty good and he can push you off the puck. I liked the way he took the kid wide and put his shoulder down drove right to the crease and put it in."

Wilmington would extend their lead to 4-1 before the end of the period when McDonough completed his hat trick with a shorthanded goal at the 6:03 mark of period. Of Owens' four assists in the game, this one was by far the best as he made a great feed from behind the net to McDonough moments after taking a cross check to the head.

"They both played great," Scanlon said of the Owens and McDonough combination. "That is a great line, (along with Jake Rogers) a very high octane line. They give up the puck, they share the puck pretty well and they get big results and they can really stress a defense out."

The Wildcats continued to pour it on in the third period with sophomore Steve DeFuria making it 5-1, tipping in a perfect pass from senior defenseman Brian Pickett in the crease at the 2:07 mark of the third period. Sophomore John Galasso also picked up an assist on the goal.

Pickett, the Wildcats self-deprecating assistant captain, who acknowledged that he did not have his best defensive game, was thrilled to help out the Wildcats offensive explosion with his great pass.

"We try to work on that in practice. I just tried to throw it toward the net, knowing (DeFuria) was going to be there," Pickett said. "It's good because I pretty much handed them (Danvers) two goals."

Senior forward Dylan DiNatale made it 6-1 Wildcats at the 6:21 mark of the final period, converting a perfect pass from Luke Foley on a 2-on-1 break and depositing a perfect backhand shot top shelf.

DiNatale had several other scoring bids on the night, but had been unable to bury them, so he was thrilled to finally get one past Taylor.

"The whole game I was getting upset because I wasn't able to finish, but I talked to my line(mate) Foley and he told me he would get me a goal," DiNatale said. "We were going down on a 2-on-1 and he just fed me some nice sauce right out front and I hit with my backhand and it found its way into the net."

After a Danvers goal at the 10:41 mark the Wildcats capped the scoring on a goal by Rogers less than a minute later at the 11:27 mark on assists from McDonough and Owens.

McDonough dominates with a trick

bigger than he seems. He's put together pretty good and he can push you off the puck. I like the (goal) where he took the kid wide, put his shoulder down and drove right to the crease and put it in. Cam usually has the big games but tonight it was Brendan's turn."

It's been Brendan's turn for quite some time. He has really stepped up his game throughout the tournament, and next year, if he adds a little bit more weight, he'll be one of the state's best players and one who could dominate every game. He dominated on Monday, scoring his first goal of the game with 3:33 left in the first period. He kept the puck just inside the Danvers' zone, before moving slightly to his left and skating through two defenders before unleashing a hard wrist shot from the low left corner giving the 'Cats a 2-0 lead after the first period.

Just 50 seconds after Danvers cut the lead in half, McDonough scored the game's winning goal. Owens banked a pass off the right hand boards and McDonough retrieved it just inside the Danvers blue line. He had a Danvers' defenseman right on him, but instead of trying to do the toe drag and all of that, McDonough simply put his shoulder into the defender, skating right to the net before putting a one-handed shot through the five hole of the goalie for a very impressive highlight tally.

He wasn't done. Three minutes and four seconds later, he completed his hat trick. Owens took a cross check to the back of his neck while chasing a puck in the right hand corner, and on the delay penalty call, he was able to find McDonough wide open off the right hand post and he unleashed a quick shot to the

"I'm finding the back of the net a lot more (this year) and I've had more points this year and I think that's just because I'm playing with Cam and Jake," said McDonough. "They both are Grade-A players who always get me the puck when I'm open."

McDonough added that it doesn't matter if he's the open player or if it's someone on the third line or if it's the fourth or fifth defenseman - if the players on the Wildcats team concentrate on finding the open player, the chances of Wilmington winning increase dramatically.

"We started to play more as a team as the season wore on and now we're always trying to find the player who is open and we have been really starting to click (offensively)," he said. "I knew that if we played our game that we were going to be fine. We knew they were going to come out hard and be physical with us but we just had to do our thing."

Now he hopes that trend can continue one last time this Sunday when the team looks to defend its Division 2 state championship crown.

"It's been our goal the whole season," he said. "Last year we were surprised when we made it but this season it's been our goal and we have been working hard at practice to get back there. We just have to keep our heads in the game. We can't have distractions and we can't let the fans get to us. We just have to play together as a team."

And if indeed that happens, McDonough can again clinch his fists and look to the 'Hockey Gods' in another memorable special moment.

Wilmington High junior forward Brendan McDonough had a monster game on Monday night scoring three goals and adding an assist in the team's 7-2 thumping over Danvers.

Judge, relay team, just miss out on All-American status

By MIKE STOLLER
Sports Correspondent

Tewksbury's Karie Judge was of one of four UMass Lowell track-and-field standouts who ran the women's distance medley relay at the NCAA Track-and-Field Championships this past weekend in Birmingham, Alabama. The River Hawks finished in a strong ninth place with a time of 11:53.47. But, the result was still agonizing in that UMass Lowell placed one slot and just under eight seconds from All-America status.

Judge opened the 1,200 meters in 3:38.26. Senior Nicole Giaquinto, of Winthrop, followed in the 400-meter dash in 56.74. Freshman Kelsey O'Driscoll, of New Providence, NJ, ran the 800 meter in 2:17.89. And senior Kelly Walton, of Nahant, ran the mile in 5:00.59.

"Our women's DMR ran really well," UMass Lowell head coach Gary Gardner said. "Unfortunately, so did eight other teams."

The UMass Lowell men's track and field team did earn All-America status with a fifth place finish in the distance medley relay, finishing in a time of 9:53.96.

Sticking with elite team status, The UMass Lowell men's hockey team clinched its first-ever Hockey East regular season championship with a 4-1 win over host Providence College Saturday.

The win puts the River Hawks as the No. 1 seed in the Hockey East Tournament. UMass Lowell will host No. 8 University Maine Thursday, Friday and Sunday (if necessary) at the Tsongas Center.

Among the standouts for the River Hawks this season was Wilmington's Joseph Pendenza, who had 14 goals and 22 assists during the regular season.

Now turning to spring sports, Wilmington's Brendan Murphy, a sophomore midfielder for the Bentley University men's lacrosse team, got his season off to a fast start when he scored a goal in the season opener, but the Falcons fell to visiting New York Institute of Technology, 10-8, in Waltham. Murphy's strike got the Falcons to within two goals with 2:15 left in the game, but Bentley could not close the gap any further.

Dylan Leone, of Tewksbury, is set to take his lacrosse talents to Franklin Pierce University. Leone, a freshman, is a long stick midfielder, who played lacrosse at Shawsheen Tech High. Leone was a named a Boston Globe All-Scholastic and CAC League All-Star in each of his four years. He was named league MVP as a senior and league Defensive Player of the Year as a junior. He was recognized as a Second-Team Lowell Sun All-Star during his junior and senior seasons. Leone played club lacrosse for NESLL.

Steve Souza, of Wilmington, returns to the green for the Merrimack College men's lacrosse team. Souza, a defender, appeared in 13 games in his rookie campaign. He scored his first career goal in a game against St. Michael's last April. Souza was ranked fourth on the team with 14 caused turnovers. He finished the season with 23 total ground balls.

Keegan Callahan, of Tewksbury, is a back at mid-field for his sophomore season playing for the Clark University Men's Lacrosse team. Callahan chipped in with two goals and two assists as a freshman.

Wilmington's Peter Leighton, who led the Regis College men's lacrosse team in goals with 21 as a freshman last season, returns as an attack for the Pride. Leighton started and played in all 15 games for Regis last year. In addition to his goal barrage, he totaled 34 ground balls and was named the team's Rookie of the Year.

Senior standout Jesse Fentross, of Tewksbury, returns as one four captains to the Salem State men's lacrosse team. Fentross, had two groundballs and a caused turnover in the Vikings' 11-5 win over host St. Joseph's College last week. Also contributing was Ryan Savini, of Wilmington, who picked up three groundballs, returning as a senior midfielder.

Junior Zack Rosa, of Wilmington, scooped five groundballs for the Assumption College men's lacrosse team, though the Greyhounds fell to Le Moyne College, 9-4, falling to 0-2, in Worcester. Rosa returns as a long stick midfielder.

Senior Pat Devlin continues to shine for the UMass Lowell baseball team. The Tewksbury native singled in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning to lead the River Hawks to a 3-2 win over East Stroudsburg University, of Pennsylvania, in the nightcap of a double header at Diamond Nation in Flemington, NJ. With the win, the River Hawks improved to 3-3.

Wilmington's Nick Boutoures is back on the hill for UMass Lowell this season, after appearing in nine games over 13.2 innings last season. The right-hander had eight strikeouts last spring. Among his highlights, Boutoures allowed no hits, while striking out two in an inning of relief in an 11-1 win over St. Michael's.

The Wentworth baseball team opened the season by sweeping a doubleheader against Cazenovia, 21-3, and 3-0. Sophomore Joe Hulme, of Tewksbury, had four hits, an RBI, and three runs scored between the two games.

Turning to several local road races, a total of 58 Wilmington and Tewksbury residents completed the "Ras Na HEirean USA" 5K race held in Somerville. Karen Keane of Wilmington was the top overall local finisher as she came in 206th place with a time of 22:04 and Matthew Morasito of Tewksbury was the top male finisher coming in 213th place with a time of 22:09.

Squirt 2's square off against Beverly

It was an action packed game Sunday night when Wilmington Wildcat Squirt 2 Team faced off against the Beverly Panthers in Saugus.

The Wildcats came out strong in the first period. Jason Davey, Evan Munro and Ryan Ackerley's offensive line made great passing and created many scoring opportunities. Beverly also had scoring chances with the play going back and forth, but all were denied by outstanding goaltending by Max Churchill. Bryan Davey and Nate Packer fought hard controlling the puck.

Midway through the period Wilmington's hard work paid off when Peter Kourkoutas ran the puck down into Beverly's zone and shot on net. The shot was blocked; Joey Pastore crashed the net driving the puck to the back and scoring the first Wilmington goal for the night, with Peter getting the assist. Wilmington ended the period 1-0.

Second period began with more of Wilmington's great passing and scoring chances. The defensive line of Connor Hill and Ryan Packer denied Beverly many shots on net. Joey Cornish, Brian Dunfey and Patrick Callahan put pressure on Beverly with many shots on net.

Peter Kourkoutas had another great scoring opportunity when he ran the puck up the boards and straight to the Beverly's net, but his shot was denied. Beverly finally got on the scoreboard with a goal, making the score tied at 1-1 at the end of the second.

The third period shaped up to be the most action packed. The outstanding defense of the Peter and James Kourkoutas kept Beverly away from Wilmington's net. The offensive line of Joey Cornish, Brian Dunfey and Patrick Callahan put pressure on Beverly with many scoring opportunities. Midway through the period Ryan Packer made a run for Beverly's net and scored the winning goal to make the score 2-1, unassisted.

Ryan Ackerley wouldn't be outdone; he took his scoring opportunity and put the puck in the back of the net, assisted by Ryan Packer, to make the score 3-1. Beverly pulled their goaltender and Evan Munro took a shot on net, but the shot went wide. The game ended with Wilmington on top and the Wildcats beat the Panthers 3-1.

On Saturday afternoon at the Haverhill Valley Forum the Wilmington Wildcats Squirt 2 team took on a formidable Triton Vikings team. It was clear from the first face off, the offensive line led by Nate Packer, Joey Pasatore, and Bryan Davey, was ready to play some hockey. They immediately challenged the Vikings' defense, charging into the zone. This was quickly answered with a return rush by Triton and a shot on net that was stonewalled by the Wilmington Goalie, Max Churchill. Defenseman, Connor Hill cleared the puck over the blue line with a strong pass to Nate Packer. Nate set up Brian Davey for a beautiful shot on goal denied by the Triton Goal tender.

Back and forth play continued for the remainder of the first period with several strong scoring opportunities by the Wildcats. At the beginning of the second period, Jason Davey continued to prove the strength of the Wildcat team pummeling the Triton Goalie with a quick shot on net. Evan Munro put on the pressure with a rush up the ice, deeking around the Triton defense to launch the puck in the net for a 1-0 lead. This intensity was quickly followed up by Brian Dunfey's shot from the slot, past the Triton defense, driving in another Wilmington goal. The Triton team scrambled to regain their spirit. A high shot by the Triton offense, snuck past Max Churchill to bring the score to 2-1.

Defenseman Peter Kourkoutas, determined to keep the Wildcats charged, answered with an end to end rush and shot on net. Ryan Ackerly added to the pressure by skating past the Triton defense sending another booming shot on net. James Kourkoutas increased the Wildcat fire power, shooting from the blue line forcing the Triton goalie to scramble to recover the rebound.

In the third period, the Wildcats opened up with their unceasing offensive attack. Evan Munro won the face off and immediately brought the puck into the zone with a shot on net. Joey Cornish hustled to the blue line to keep the puck in and sent a shot just wide of the Triton pipes. The Wilmington defense repeatedly fought off attempts by the Triton offense.

Ten minutes into the period Triton charged into our zone. There was a battle for possession in front of the net. A well placed pass resulted in Triton tying up the score 2-2. Throughout the remainder of the period, the Wildcats persisted in their attempts to score, testing the skills of the Vikings. Ryan Packer muscled passed Triton forwards to block a scoring attempt from the point. Patrick Callahan forced the puck through the neutral zone to send in another strong shot. At the last minute, the Triton offense rushed down the ice and was denied a goal by Max Churchill. The Wildcat Squirt 2 game ended in a strongly played tie.

Wilmington's own Maeve Cadogan was crowned the fifth grade 2013 Acton-Boxborough tournament free throw champion. She was successful against seven other towns. Maeve finished in a three way tie and moved to sudden death competition. In the third round of sudden death she swished her shot to win the competition.

Wilmington Sporting events announcements

On Sunday, March 24th, Wilmington Youth Soccer will host the third annual Girls Night Out Event which will be held at the Villanova Hall (125 Middlesex Ave, Wilmington).

From 3:30-5:30 pm, players will have a chance to meet Boston Breakers Players, Recognize the Wilmington High School Team for their record breaking season, participate in skill challenges, and win prizes!

Then from 5:30-7:00pm, the event is open to all female players and high school athletes. Nationally recognized coaches from Boston University, Endicott College, Merrimack College, and Salem State University will

CITATION GIVING
PETITION FOR APPOINTMENT OF
GUARDIAN FOR
INCAPACITATED
PERSON PURSUANT
TO G.L. c 190B,
§5-304

In the matter of:
Cheryl Mulcahy
Of: Tewksbury, MA
RESPONDENT
Alleged Incapacitated Person

To the named Respondent and all other interested persons, a petition has been filed by Tewksbury Hospital of Tewksbury, MA in the above captioned matter alleging that Cheryl Mulcahy is in need of a Guardian and requesting that Yvonne Fuller of Concord, MA; Beth Prohaski of Amherst, MA or (or some other suitable person) be appointed as Guardian to serve Without Surety on the bond.

The petition asks the court to determine that the Respondent is incapacitated, that the appointment of a Guardian is necessary, and that the proposed Guardian is appropriate. The petition is on file with this court and may contain a request for certain specific authority.

You have a right to object to this proceeding. If you wish to do so, you or your attorney must file a written appearance at this court on or before 10:00 AM on the return date of 04/02/2013. This day is NOT a hearing date, but a deadline date by which you have to file the written appearance if you object to the petition. If you fail to file the written appearance by the return date, action may be taken in this matter without further notice to you. In addition to filing the written appearance, you or your attorney must file a written affidavit stating the specific facts and grounds of your objection within 30 days after the return date.

IMPORTANT NOTICE
The outcome of this proceeding may limit or completely take away the above-named person's right to make decisions about personal affairs or financial affairs or both. The above-named person has the right to ask for a lawyer. Anyone may make this request on behalf of the above-named person. If the above-named person cannot afford a lawyer, one may be appointed at State expense.

TOWN OF WILMINGTON
MASSACHUSETTS
INVITATION TO BID
WOBBURN STREET SCHOOL SEPTIC and GREASE TRAP REPLACEMENT

The Town of Wilmington is soliciting bids to supply labor and materials to replace and expand the septic system and grease trap, and associated work at the Woburn Street School. Project cost is estimated at $100,000 and $125,000; subcontract work is expected to be less than $20,000 for any specific category. DCAM certification is required. The project is bid in accordance with MGL 149 Section 44A-J. The rate of wages paid for the work must be in accordance with MA prevailing wage rates. Work must be completed between June 21, 2013 and August 16, 2013.

Bid specifications and plans are available at the Town Manager's Office, Wilmington Town Hall, 121 Glen Road, Wilmington, Mon - Fri 8:30AM to 4:30PM beginning March 6th and until bids are due. All bids must comply in all respects with the instructions, conditions, specifications and other requirements in the invitation for bids. Bids and specifications may be obtained via mailed upon written request to the Town Manager's Office, Attn: Wendy Martiniello, and receipt of payment of a non-refundable fee of $25.00 in the form of a certified check, treasurer's or cashier's check, payable to the Town of Wilmington. The Town is not responsible for failure to meet the bid deadline due to delays related to processing of mail requests for bid specs and plans.

A mandatory pre-bid conference is scheduled for Thursday, March 21st, 10AM at 30 Church Street, Wilmington. Bids must be submitted in accordance with the invitation instructions, and are due Friday, March 29, 2013, at 11AM.

The Town shall not be responsible for bids arriving late due to couriers, deliveries to wrong locations, express mailing services etc. or any reason whatsoever. Postmarks will not be considered.

Local athletes honored at Austin Prep

The following student-athletes received honors during Austin Preparatory School's Winter Athletic Awards Night on March 4:

Junior Allyson Braciska of Tewksbury received the Girls Varsity Basketball Most Valuable Player award; Sophomore Cassidy Cohen of Tewksbury received the Pom-Pom Dance Squad Most Valuable Player award.; Senior Bianca Enos of Tewksbury received the Pom-Pom Dance Squad Award of Excellence; Seventh-grader Logan MacDonald of Wilmington received the Girls Middle School Basketball Award of Excellence; Senior Elizabeth McDermott of Wilmington received the Indoor Track Award of Excellence.

Cullity gets traded to IceCaps

The Springfield Falcons of the American Hockey League, announced on Monday that they have traded defenseman Patrick Cullity to the St. John's IceCaps in exchange for future considerations. The Ice Caps are the top farm team of the Winnipeg Jets. They currently stand in last place in the AHL's Atlantic Division with a record of 23-32-1, trailing the Providence Bruins as well as teams from Portland, Manchester and Worcester.

Cullity was scoreless in seven games with the Falcons this season after combining a goal and eight assists for nine points in 44 contests with the club in 2011-2012. The 26-year-old from Tewksbury, Mass. is currently with the ECHL's Idaho Steelheads, where he has 14 points (3g-11a) in 39 games this year.

Cullity's hockey career has continued in various places after a stellar career at the University of Vermont.

Speaking of local professional athletes, the Town Crier will have plenty of updates on Tewksbury resident Scott Oberg and Wilmington resident Stephen Peterson, who are currently in minor league baseball. Oberg will be in his second season with the Colorado Rockies organization and Peterson will be in his third season in the Milwaukee Brewers organization.

LIAM Nation Sign-Ups

Please join LIAM Nation (formerly called FOSEK of Tewksbury) on Sunday, March 17, 2013, for our Spring Soccer registration. Athletes will need to bring a copy of their most recent physicals as part of the application process. Volunteer applications will be made available at this time for anyone ages 14 years and older. (CORI forms are required for volunteers 15 year of age and up)

Registration will be held at the following location: Tewksbury VW Post 8146, 87 Vernon Street, Tewksbury, MA 01876; Time: 10AM - 1PM; Registration Fee: FREE

LIAM Nation will be offering this season at no cost to their athletes as they look to restructure their fees and programming. This registration will be held in conjunction with the Community Pancake Breakfast. For more information please contact Lisa Puccia at 978.851.2724 or visit www.liamnation.org to submit any inquiries.

Local Road Races

The fourth annual Meghan McCarthy Memorial Road Race will be held on Sunday, March 24th at 10:00 am (Check in at 8:15 a.m. - 9:45 a.m.) at Tewksbury Memorial High School located at 320 Pleasant St. Tewksbury, MA). The event is open to walkers and runners of all abilities. There will be prizes in each gender/age group and raffle tables will be near the check-in. Also, Post-race refreshments provided to all entrants and t-shirts will be sold the day of the race for $15.

Any questions please contact: mmm\_roadrace@yahoo.com.

On April 21st, starting at 10:00 am, the GDRNE 5K Road Race, in support of Great Dog Rescue New England, a 501 (C)(3) non-profit, shelterless, all-breed rescue group based out of Andover, MA, will be held at Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Free parking is available on a first come, first serve basis. Participants are encouraged to go to GDRNE.com for more information regarding sign up. On leash, people/dog-friendly dogs are welcome. We will also have a meet and greet involving some of GDRNE's current adoptable dogs.

UML Soccer Clinic

The UMass Lowell women's soccer program, which will enter its first season in NCAA Division I this fall, will host a one-day clinic on Monday, Apr. 15 at the Cushing Field Complex. The clinic will be conducted by UMass Lowell head coach Elie Monteiro, who will enter his 12th season this fall, as well as members of his staff and team. Monteiro has guided the River Hawks to five appearances in the NCAA Tournament over the last eight seasons.

Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. while the clinic will begin at 8:50 and run until 3:00. Sessions include fitness testing, a technical session, small-sided games as well as 8-on-8 or 11 vs. 11 games, among other activities.

Cost for the clinic is $115 while all registrants will receive a t-shirt. Enrollment is limited and registration is conducted on a first-come, first-served basis.

For more information, contact Elie Monteiro at 978-934-2346 or by e-mail at elie\_monteiro@uml.edu.

Tewksbury PAL Wrestling program honors several grapplers

Tewksbury PAL Wrestling Program had another great day recently at the third and fourth grade MA Youth Wrestling State Championships.

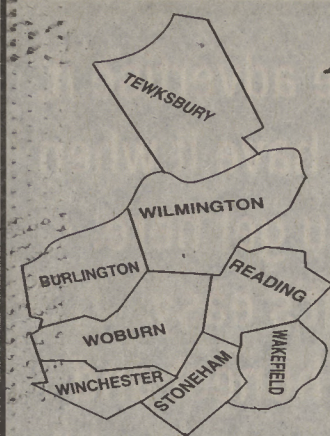

Danny Fleming dominated his bracket to win first place for the 69-pound weight class. Danny accomplished this through decisively winning all of his matches. He had a first period pin against Burlington in the first round. He had a major decision (12-0) win in semi-finals against Dungeon and finished the day with a technical fall (17-0) against Wayland to win the finals.

Cameron Gondola also had a great day with a first round win against Andover. He made it to the semi-finals but was dealt a loss in a close decision against Hannover. In the consolation semi-finals he had tough decision loss against Parkway.

Danny Lightfoot had a great day of wrestling at the 79-pound division. He had a tough loss in the quarter finals against Dracut. Lightfoot then came back strong in the consolation semifinals with a major decision win (12-0) against Chelmsford. He had a tough and close loss in the consolation finals against Hanover.

Both Danny Fleming (3rd-4th) and Jake Garland (Middle School) will be representing MA in the New England Youth Wrestling Championship this weekend.

Burlington company provides LED lighting for historical structures

By PAUL FEELY

LED lighting illuminates some of the country's most iconic landmarks, and the initial spark for the systems began at a company located in a Middlesex East community.

The new LED lighting system for the Bay Bridge in San Francisco, along with the lighting displays on the Zakim Bridge in Boston and the Empire State Building in New York City, were developed by Philips Color Kinetics, located on Burlington Woods Drive in Burlington. Innovative, intelligent LED lighting solutions from Philips Color Kinetics are already in use in over 34,000 transformative, high-profile installations around the world.

In a shining example of public-private partnership, The Bay Lights, the brainchild of Ben Davis, chairman of Illuminate the Arts (ITA) and the vision of acclaimed artist Leo Villareal, have become a one-of-a-kind lighted sculpture for the next two years. Installed with the support of the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans), the bridge is expected to be viewed by over 50 million people and bring nearly 100 million in revenue to the local San Francisco economy. The new LED lighting system uses 85 percent less energy than traditional lighting technologies, energy that will be offset by dedicated solar panels set up in Davis, CA by CleanPath.

Villareal, creator of The Bay Lights, is a pioneer in the use of LED lights and computer driven imagery using Philips Color Kinetics eW Flex SLX product in 4200 Kelvin correlated color temperature for the Bay Lights project. eW Flex SLX is a versatile strand of individually controllable white light LED nodes. The durable, flexible form factor allows dynamic points of white light to be installed across nearly any interior or exterior surface which made it an ideal choice for The Bay Lights project. Philips Color Kinetics worked with Villareal to create custom spacing between the nodes to accommodate his design. In the end, almost 4.5 miles of product was installed on the bridge, roughly equal to the total length of the Bay Bridge, counting both spans. The lighting will be viewable from San Francisco and points north, but not by drivers crossing the bridge.

"Using Philips LED technology really gives me the creative flexibility I need to bring this bridge to life and fulfill my vision," wrote Leo Villareal in an email. "This isn't about just lighting another bridge with white or colored light. The Bay Lights emphasizes the use of 'intelligent' lighting, fully utilizing individual control and the ability to create 255 levels of brightness per node. The custom software I have created allows for the creation of ever changing pattern site specifically created for this location with the goal of producing a work of art."

Turning the bridge into a monumental light sculpture is a unique application of LED lighting technology that sets the Bay Bridge apart. Villareal networked 25,000 of these LED nodes to create complex algorithms and patterns across the bridge's western span. These patterns dynamically recombine themselves over the two-year duration of the installation, transforming the bridge into a living piece of art which organizers believe to be the world's largest LED light sculpture.

"The Bay Lights is a prime example of how LED technology can create meaningful value for a community in an environmentally friendly way," said Bruno Biasiotta, CEO and president of Philips Lighting Americas in a release. "As lighting and tech-

"OZ THE GREAT AND POWERFUL"

by Paul Feely

"OZ THE GREAT AND POWERFUL" will be a trip along the yellow brick road back to childhood for many, and an introduction to a fantasy world for others. A trip worth taking for the most part.

"OZ THE GREAT AND POWERFUL"

GRADE: ***

"Oz the Great and Powerful" will be a trip along the yellow brick road back to childhood for many, an introduction to a wild fantasy world for others.

For the most part, it's a trip worth taking.

Sam Raimi and Disney took on a great and powerful responsibility when they cast James Franco, Michelle Williams and company for their "Oz" odyssey. We don't just remember Oz, after all. We know this place - from Munchkinland to the Emerald City to that non-descript crossroads where Dorothy meets the Scarecrow - it is a trip we've taken many times over the years.

That's tricky territory for a filmmaker to navigate. After all, Raimi can't hope to replace "The Wizard of Oz," or to do anything close to bettering it in the minds of moviegoers. The absolute best he can hope for with "Oz the Great and Powerful" is to try to recapture the spirit of director Victor Fleming's 1939 original.

And while the instinct of many movie-goers will be to re-enter "Oz" with no small amount of skepticism, Raimi mostly succeeds in that regard. His highly polished "Oz the Great and Powerful" is a lovely family fantasy, one that pays fitting homage to the spirit of the original, with its well-formed sense of magic, wonder and fun - and all without betraying childhood memories.

Wisely, Raimi and company don't attempt to undertake a direct remake of 1939's "The Wizard of Oz." Rather, "Oz the Great and Powerful" is intended to function as a prequel to that classic film, telling the story of how the wizard (played by Franco) came to rule Oz in the first place. It's the story of the man who would be the man behind the curtain.

Like Fleming's film, "Oz the Great and Powerful" starts out with a black-and-white prologue set in Kansas and boasting a deliberate shot-on-a-sound-stage feel. Also there: The first of numerous sly little references - visual and spoken - to the original.

At the center of it all is another familiar flourish: the wagon of a certain traveling magician. That would be Franco's future wizard, named Oscar Diggs, who spends the early part of the film wishing out loud for a chance at greatness, all the while running into people he will re-encounter in one form or another when he goes over the rainbow.

Cue the tornado, cue the shift to wide-screen format, cue the Technicolor images. Cue the enlisting of Oscar by the denizens of Oz - who mistake him for a real wizard - to fulfill a prophecy and restore order to their land.

Cue also some downright dazzling 3-D visuals, as Raimi and company use every tool in their digital toolbox (and a reported, but unconfirmed-by-Disney $200 million budget) to wow today's much more sophisticated audiences. They don't waste any time doing it, either, as this "Oz" starts with some of the most beautiful opening credits you're likely to have seen in some time - and which alone are almost worth the price of the 3-D box-office upcharge.

"Oz the Great and Powerful" doesn't match the timeless, iconic stature of 1939's "The Wizard of Oz." But it is a pleasant journey, one that gives another generation of Munchkins material for yellow-brick road dreams.

"JACK THE GIANT SLAYER"

GRADE: ***

"Jack the Giant Slayer" is an old-fashioned, family oriented fantasy adventure. Director Bryan Singer captures the spirit of mildly scary family features such as "Jason and the Argonauts" and "The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad."

Nicholas Hoult, recently seen in "Warm Bodies," plays the title role, which is much more a retelling of "Jack and the Beanstalk" than "Jack the Giant Slayer."

The traditional fairy tale serves as the foundation for the film, telling the tale of a young man and woman, each from separate social backgrounds, but on parallel paths. Jack (Nicholas Hoult) is an 18-year-old with his head in the clouds.

Naive but with a good heart, he lives with his uncle (Christopher Fairbank) in a rundown shack on the edge of the kingdom known as Glouster and longs for adventure. On a trip to town, he not only mistakes the lovely Princess Isabelle (Eleanor Tomlinson) for a commoner but is also duped into taking a bag of magic beans in exchange for his horse. While Jack has to face the wrath of his uncle, the young lady is forced to contend with her father, King Brahmwell (Ian McShane), who's arranged for her to be married to his most-trusted advisor Roderick (Stanley Tucci, channeling Basil Rathbone). This does not sit well with her, so she flees the castle that rainy night, only to find herself forced to seek shelter from the storm, at what turns out to be Jack's humble hovel.

Circumstances occur in which the magic beans are accidentally planted, a huge multi-tendrill stalk rapidly grows and poor Isabelle is whisked up beyond the clouds where she finds herself in a realm of exiled giants. Ordered to rescue her are the leaders of the king's guard, Elmont (Ewan McGregor) and Crave (Eddie Marsan), with Jack, Roderick, his right-hand stooge Wicke (Ewen Bremner) and a handful of soldiers in tow.

The film is surprisingly deep. A captivating back story involving the giants and a magic crown that controls them is told before the film's opening title card appears, while elements of court intrigue are dispensed with in a quick, engaging and clever manner.

"Jack" may not be original, but it is fun. These days, too many makers of big-budget action movies seem so embarrassed by their material, they try to prove there are above it - and the audience - with a snarky attitude.

"Jack the Giant Slayer" is Singer's best film since the second "X-Men" movie. It is charming, exciting and unashamed of its corniness.

Feminism, Whitey Bulger are two topics

Spring Forums at Kennedy Library

The Kennedy Library, located at Columbia Point in Boston, is offering a variety of Forums this spring including the following.

Feminism
Tuesday, March 19 6 - 7:30 PM
On the 50th anniversary of the publication of Betty Friedan's groundbreaking book, New York Times columnist Gail Collins, former US District Judge Nancy Gertner, and former Governor of Vermont Madeleine Kunin discuss the strides made by the feminist movement and the challenges ahead.

PEN Hemingway Awards
Thursday, March 21 6 - 7:30 PM
Boston Globe journalists Kevin Cullen and Shelley Murphy discuss their new book, Whitey Bulger: America's Most Wanted Gangster and the Manhunt That Brought Him to Justice, and what this history reveals about the changing nature of Boston and its politics. WBUR reporter David Boeri moderates.

All forums are free and open to the public. Reservations are strongly recommended. They guarantee a seat in the building but not the main hall. Seating is on a first-come, first-served basis. Doors open one hour before the program begins.

Call 617-514-1643 to make a reservation. For more information, www.jfklibrary.org. Watch Kennedy Library Forums LIVE on-line at www.jfklibrary.org/webcast

Maple Sugarin' at Breakheart a fun family weekend event

Saturday March 16th from 10am - 2pm, experience a New England tradition in a family activity for all ages. Watch as maple syrup is made in the traditional way at DCR's beautiful Reservation in Saugus.

Put on your boots and flannel shirt and join in the fun! Smell the wood smoke as you watch clouds of steam rise from the bubbling sap. Savor the taste of real maple syrup on pancakes and popcorn by the campfire.

Tour the History Section, Tree Identification activity, Tap a Maple, watch the Evaporator at work in the Sugar Shack, and best of all, Taste the Results!

Important to the survival of Native Americans, and still vital to survival of New England farmers; only here and only now is this sweet treat created for the world!

The admission fee of $5 ($20 per family) directly benefits the program, supplying the equipment you will see in action.

Then on Sunday March 17th from 9 am till Noon, the Friends of Breakheart Reservation serve up their renowned Pancake Breakfast once again at the Visitor Center.

Whet your appetite while watching DCR staff working in the Sugar Shack to conjure up the syrup from sap for your enjoyment! The $5 per person admission provides the supplies for the event.

Breakheart Reservation is located at 177 Forest St., off the LynnFells Parkway near US Rt. 1 in Saugus. For additional information about this event and the many programs in your state parks, please call 781 233 0834 or visit mass.gov/der

APRIL HONOREES (READING/NORTH READING)

"The Reading-North Reading Chamber of Commerce is proud to honor John Murphy and Domenic Rotondi as their Outstanding Citizens of the Year," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"An awards dinner hosted in honor of these two individuals will be held at the Hillview Country Club in North Reading on Wednesday, April 3, 2013. All are welcome to attend."

"It's easy to understand why both Mr. Murphy and Mr. Rotondi have been selected as this year's recipients. Both men are long-term residents of their towns and have committed much of their adult lives to the betterment of our communities. It's an honor for the Chamber to be able to recognize them for their efforts," said Gino Molettieri, President of the RNR Chamber of Commerce.

"Representing North Reading, John Murphy, Senior Vice President and Director of Business Development at the Reading Co-Operative Bank, is often referred to as 'Mr. Everywhere,' earning this nickname due to his unyielding commitment to a seemingly endless list of causes. John is most well-known in North Reading for his role as Town Moderator..."

"A resident of North Reading since 1995, John lives in the town with his wife, Lorraine, and their two children."

"Representing Reading, Mr. Domenic Rotondi is the very best example of a community volunteer. A resident of Reading for over 50 years, Domenic and his wife, Carolyn, raised three daughters in the town and, in addition to remaining active volunteers today, they find much joy in their close family life.

"This passion for family is what motivated Domenic to get involved in many organizations in the Town of Reading. Most notably, he is a founding member of the Lions Club and is recognized by them worldwide for his impressive charitable contributions..."

"The RNR Chamber invites anyone interested in attending the awards dinner to contact Julie Higgins, Executive Director, at 978-664-5060 or email RNRChambercom@aol.com"

TUCKED AWAY (BURLINGTON)

"The Board of Selectmen recently approved the authorization of the sale of town-owned property that is tucked away under the high tension wires on Middlesex Turnpike for a selling price of no less than $114,000," notes the Burlington "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Town Treasurer and Tax Collector Brian Curtin went in front of the board asking for the request to start the selling process of the property abutting Middlesex Turnpike behind The Real School of Music, which is located at 55 Middlesex Turnpike."

"Curtin was asked if the board can put restrictions up on the property, such as a right of first refusal, but it was affirmed that the Selectmen cannot as they would have to go to Town Meeting and present the land as an RFP (Request for Proposals)."

"Town Assessor James Doherty said that the property has been treated 'very consistently' and noted that there are easement issues on the property as there are powerlines that run over it and topographical issues.

"The site is certainly a site that has its complexity," he said, noting that the land is 'above grade' ...."

CAPITAL GRILLING (WILMINGTON)

"At the Board of Selectmen meeting ..., Town Manager Jeff Hull reviewed the preliminary draft of the warrant for annual Town Meeting, slated to take place on May 4," notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"The following details the capital requests that are expected to appear on the warrant: four new police cruisers for the Police Department; one new ambulance for the Fire Department; one ton cargo van for Public Buildings; one heavy-duty dump truck, pickup truck, multi-use tractor, and skid steer for Public Works; and one transportation van for the School Department."

"The warrant also asks the town to vote to approve funds for the preparation of conceptual and schematic designs for the development of the Yentle Farm property; the replacement of two oil burning boilers with gas boilers at the North Intermediate School; and the replacement of 9,820 square feet of the roof at West Intermediate School."

"Additionally, voters are asked to consider approving

SPORTS WEEKLY
TRIVIA:

What Kansas City Chiefs player recorded seven sacks in a 1990 game against the Seattle Seahawks, setting a single game record that still stands?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•The University of New Hampshire field hockey team received a 2012 Gladiator by SGI/NFHCA Division I National Academic Team Award and nine Wildcats were named to the 2012 Gladiator by SGI/NFHCA Division I National Academic Squad.

The National Field Hockey Coaches Association announced the team award Monday and the individual honors Tuesday. It is the third consecutive year UNH

by Paul Feely

has been bestowed the team award, which is presented to programs with a team grade-point-average of 3.0 or higher.

The National Academic Squad recognizes those student-athletes who have achieved a cumulative GPA of 3.30 or higher through the first semester of the 2012-13 academic year.

Senior midfielder Emma Erler (New Hampton, N.H.) is a four-year recipient of the award while classmate Claire Grogan (Canton, Mass.) was also honored in 2009 and 2010.

Sophomores Christine

Albertelli (Ballwin, Mo.) and CARLIE TARBELL (WAKEFIELD, MASS.) were both feted for the second consecutive year while junior back Megan Bozek (Cortlandt Manor, N.Y.) is also a second time honoree; she earned the accolade in 2010.

A quartet of UNH freshmen - Meg Carroll (Mansfield, Mass.), Lexy Cole (Belgrade, Maine), Lauren Gardner (Allentown, Pa.) and Chandler Giese (Trappe, Pa.) - complete the list of nine Wildcats named to the 2012 National Academic Squad.

UNH, led by 22nd-year head coach Robin Balducci, won its third consecutive America East regular-season title and advanced to the conference championship game for the third time in as many years in 2012. The Wildcats finished the year ranked No. 20 in the national poll with a 12-8 overall record that included 5-0 in America East.

• JUNIOR KARIE JUDGE (TEWKSBURY, MASS.), who will represent UMass Lowell in the distance medley relay, placed third in the 1,000 meters in 3:00.86. Senior Kelly Walton (Nahant, Mass.), also a DMR runner, took fifth in the mile in 5:09.72.

Senior Craig Bennett (Milton, Mass.), a member of UMass Lowell's NCAA-bound 4X400 relay and distance medley relay teams, placed second in the 200 meter dash in 22.44 seconds. Junior Tim Regan (Sandwich, Mass.) placed fourth in 23.04.

•Need some help with the trivia question? His initials are D.T.

line single to right in the bottom of the seventh inning as UMass Lowell defeated East Stroudsburg University, 3-2, to win the nightcap and earn a double-header split at Diamond Nation in Flemington, N. J.

East Stroudsburg won the opener, 6-4.

With the second game win, the River Hawks improved their record to 4-2, East Stroudsburg University dropped to 3-3.

"Give him a lot of credit," says UMass Lowell Coach Ken Harring of O'Keefe. "The throw (to the plate) beat him, most runners would just give up and be tagged out, but he danced around the tag (to score.)"

Tied at two, the bottom of the seventh inning had started in optimistic fashion; freshman Matt Mattola's (Newburyport, Mass.) ripped a double to left. It was his first collegiate hit. River Hawk hopes were nearly squelched when pinch runner sophomore Luke Reynolds (Manchester, N. H.) was thrown out at the plate trying to score on an O'Keefe single. O'Keefe put himself in scoring position advancing to second on the throw to the plate.

After a walk, Devlin won the game with a single to right and O'Keefe's mad dash, dance and dive to the plate.

"Your team goes as your seniors go," says Harring. "Devlin is a battler; he hit the ball where it was pitched."

After East Stroudsburg had broken a scoreless tie with an unearned run in the fourth inning, the River Hawk struck back scoring twice in the bottom half of the inning.

Lemon Buttercream Frosting

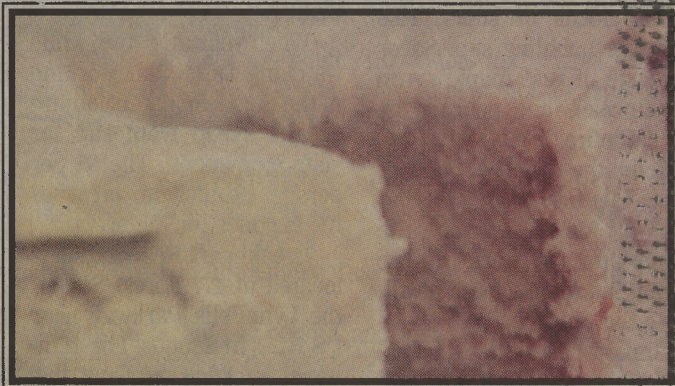

Light and airy, sugary and sweet, nothing can top a sliver of homemade cake. But no cake is complete with out the accompaniment of some frosting. Some would argue that cake is simply a tasty vessel on which to carry their beloved frosting. Madeleine, author of the blog Madeleine's Madeleines and gluten free baker, shares her simple, yet flavorful, recipe for Lemon Buttercream

Ingredients

Difficulty: Easy
Prep Time: 12 Minutes
Cook Time: 0 Minutes

2 sticks Butter, softened
3 cups Confectioners Sugar (also known as Powdered Sugar)
1 tablespoon Lemon Zest
2 tablespoon Lemon Extract
1 tablespoon Lemon Juice

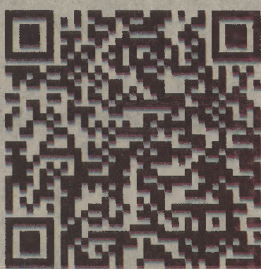

Frosting.

Made with softened butter and powdered sugar, the buttercream frosting requires only two components, fat and sugar. Despite its name, "cream" isn't frequently used as an ingredient, but rather it refers to the creamy texture produced by mixing the ingredients together at high speeds. With Easter and spring on the horizon, light and delicate pastries are soon to come. Add this Lemon Buttercream Frosting, an elegant blend of sweetness with a hint of lemon, to your next vanilla cake or top your next batch of homemade sugar cookies. We promise you'll be looking for ways to incorporate this light and airy frosting into many more of your tasty treats.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Mix two sticks of butter in a stand mixer for one minute.
2. Add the confectioner sugar and mix together.
3. Add lemon zest, extract and juice to the mixer.
4. Mix until light and fluffy.

Recipe courtesy of Madeleine of Madeleine's Madeleines, 2013.

Legal Notice

IFB 2013-25

The Reading Municipal Light Department is extending an invitation to submit bids for:

Excavation for installation of new underground electric distribution system to replace aging electric distribution system in Lynnfield Massachusetts

The Reading Municipal Light Department will receive sealed bids until 11:00 a.m., Thursday, April 11, 2013 at 230 Ash Street, Reading, Massachusetts, 01867. Bids will then be opened and unless obviously non-responsive, read aloud publicly. Bids received after the time of announced opening will not be accepted.

There is a pre-bid conference scheduled for Thursday,
March 28, 2013 at 9:00 a.m. at RMLD Offices, 230 Ash
Street, Reading, MA
Attendance at this conference is mandatory for a bid to be considered

Bid documents and bid forms may be obtained from the Purchasing Department, Reading Municipal Light Department, 230 Ash Street, Reading, Massachusetts, 01867. For questions or further information, please contact Marianne Fabbri at 781-942-6430.

Bid security in the amount of five (5) percent of the bid must accompany the bid.

The Reading Municipal Light Department reserves the right to reject any and all bids, including and without limitation the right to reject any or all non-responsive, unbalanced or conditional bids, and to reject any bid of any bidder if the Reading Municipal Light Department believes that it would not be in the best interest of the project to make the award to that bidder.
Reading Municipal Light Department also reserves the right to waive any informalities not involving price, time or changes to the work.

Contracts or Agreements will not be entered into until after the approval of the Reading Municipal Light Board. Agreements will not be valid or binding until duly executed via contract or purchase order signed by an authorized representative of the RMLD.

RMLD will process bids promptly. However, RMLD will not be liable for any delays in acting on a bid.

started it with a single. He moved to second on a sacrifice bunt and came around to tie the game on a doubled drilled to left by senior James Katsiroubas (Milton, Mass.)
Katsiroubas scored on a hit-and-run single to right off the bat of sophomore Pat Parker (Merrimack, N. H.) give UMass Lowell a 2-1 lead.

The River Hawks carried the lead into the seventh before ESU would tie it on a windblown solo homerun.

The homerun was the only earned run allowed by River
Hawk starter sophomore righthander Shane Beauchemin (Manchester, N. H.) He tossed a complete game three-hitter, walking one and striking out six.

O'Keefe and Parker each had two hit games in the nightcap. Parker, Katsiroubas and Devlin each drove in a run.

walk-in pantry offers plenty of space for canned goods and other food staples.

Laundry facilities are mere steps away, in a good-sized utility room with built-in cabinets. Direct entry to the garage is equally close, ideal for unloading groceries in the dark or in stormy weather.

The owners' suite and a den/home office fill the left side of the main floor, accessed via a vaulted foyer that runs next to the right-hand stairway. Pocket doors open into the den, which also has a closet. It could be furnished as a guest room, fourth bedroom, or put to other uses. Owners' suite amenities include a double vanity and a roomy walk-in closet.

Two more bedrooms and a bathroom are upstairs in the Shasta, along with a vaulted attic and a much larger vaulted bonus room.

Lights from S-1

nology converge, we push the boundaries of how we interact with light and start to see the art of what is possible. Through the tireless work of ITA, Leo Villareal and CalTrans, the residents of San Francisco will have a stunning new piece of art-work that honors the city's devotion to the arts and inviting visitors to see what else this fantastic city has to offer."

Organizers of The Bay Lights have provided all the financial support for the project through private funding, not tax payers. Over the course of the year, it will cost approximately $11,000 in energy to light the piece, which translates into $30 per day or $4.25 per hour.

Philips Color Kinetics recently announced IntelliPower, its newest innovation for delivering high-bandwidth LED lighting control using existing electrical and physical infrastructures. IntelliPower makes it easy to deploy intelligent, digitally controllable LED lighting solutions in any situation where re-wiring is not desirable or feasible, including historic buildings, in-ground systems, bridges, and monumental exteriors.

Philips recently debuted IntelliPower to re-light the towers on Boston's iconic Leonard P. Zakim Bunker Hill Bridge with intelligent, color-changing LED lighting fixtures from Philips Color Kinetics. With just the push of a button, the Massachusetts Department of Transportation can change the colors and intensity of the lights as well as display dynamic, color-changing light shows, while at the same time reducing energy consumption by more than 80% over the previously installed conventional lighting system. In addition, because IntelliPower uses the wiring and fixture mounting points already on the bridge, the Massachusetts Department of Transportation also saved money on the installation.

"Since construction, this bridge has served as a symbol for the Commonwealth," said Richard A. Davey, Massachusetts Department of Transportation (MassDOT) Secretary in a release. "With this relighting made possible by Philips LED technology, we renew our belief that a bridge can be more than a symbol. It can help build community. This new color technology will allow us to promote, engage and inform our community."

"Until now, cities and building owners have been limited to traditional lighting technologies that offer limited lighting effects and are labor intensive to maintain, or dynamic lighting systems that are cost prohibitive to install," said Jeff Cassis, general manager of Philips Color Kinetics. "With IntelliPower, any building or structure can now realize all the benefits of LED lighting, including energy and maintenance savings and the power of dynamic lighting effects, without high upfront costs or the necessity to rewire. IntelliPower offers an affordable way to transform spaces and places with dynamic and sustainable LED lighting."

It makes perfect sense. When the world's most famous office building decided to modernize its iconic tower lights, they chose the industry's premier LED lighting provider to help them do it: Philips Color Kinetics. And on Monday, November 26th, 2012 the world-famous Empire State Building (ESB), in collaboration with Clear Channel Media and Entertainment and 14 time Grammy® Award winner, Alicia Keys, gave a gift to New York City and the world by revealing ESB's new, one-of-a-kind LED tower lights with a first-ever light show on the Landmark. ### This Week's Sampler: The Shasta

Shasta's floor plan pleases families

The Shasta's dormers and inviting front porch are among a cluster of Craftsman features that lend nostalgic charm to this one-and-a-half-story country cottage. Multipaned windows, along with cultured stone wainscoting and column supports, boost its appeal.

Inside, the floor plan is fully attuned to the preferences of contemporary families. The gathering spaces are awash with natural light. Windows fill most of the living room's rear wall, next to a gas fireplace. The living room is completely open to a dining room that is windowed on two sides, and open to the kitchen on its fourth side. A mini-bathroom is centrally located.

Standing at the kitchen sink, you can look out across the flush eating bar to scan a wide area, easily taking in the dining room, covered patio, and part of the living room. Counter space wraps around three sides of the C-shaped kitchen. Cupboards span two walls, while a generously sized

IN THIS COUNTRY COTTAGE, THE LIVING ROOM IS COMPLETELY OPEN to a dining room that is windowed on two sides, and open to the kitchen on its fourth side. Laundry facilities are mere steps away, in a good-sized utility room with built-in cabinets. The owners' suite and a den/home office fill out the left side of the ground floor; bedrooms and bonus rooms are upstairs.
